Russia Renews UN Attack On U. S. "War-Mongering"

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—The Soviet attack on the United States was renewed in the United Nations assembly today by White Russia's chief delegate, Kuzma V. Kiselev, who took up the battle where Andrei Y. Vishinsky left off yesterday.

Backing up Vishinsky's charges of American "war-mongering," Kiselev declared that the United States had taken up a slogan of world mastery.

"War threatens to erupt on the peaceful life of the people," he shouted, waving his hands.

The White Russian delegate spoke after Dr. Jose Arce, Argentina's chief delegate, had made the first formal reply to Vishinsky in the general debate, now in its third day.

Arce noted that Vishinsky had included Argentina in his "compliments" and said the Russian seemed to have taken "a rapid trip around the world" to include almost everybody in his attack.

Repeats Charge

Kiselev, repeating many of the same charges which Vishinsky leveled against the United States, asserted that the Soviet Union was leading the drive for peace but was being attacked from many quarters.

Turning to the question of atomic energy control, he said the United States could not hold its monopoly for long and added, "the atomic bomb of one side may be answered by the atomic bomb of the other side."

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union pressed swiftly for United Nations action on her demands for curbs against what Vishinsky called "criminal" war propaganda in the United States.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie disclosed he had received a formal request from the Soviet chief delegate to have the proposal added to the agenda of the general assembly.

The new Vishinsky move cleared the way for a preliminary test, possibly later today, on the Soviet resolution.

Charges "War-Mongering"

The Russians' No. 1 deputy foreign minister put the resolution before the 55 member nations at the end of his charges yesterday against the United States and nine prominent Americans whom he called leading "war-mongers."

The bitter Russian blast, delivered in 8,000 angry words by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky virtually charged a conspiracy within the United States to make war on Russia. The speech was described by ranking American delegates as "so fantastic" that it would defeat itself and be written off in this country and elsewhere in the non-communist world as straight-out Russian propaganda.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall was being advised along this line by top members of his delegation, it was learned, and while a final delegation decision as to the next American move was yet to be made it was authoritatively expected to call for the silent treatment for Vishinsky.

Meanwhile, the general debate

LIMA WOMAN SLAIN; EX-HUSBAND HELD

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Sept. 19—A 38-year-old mother of three boys was shot to death today in a downtown bar and Police Chief Kermit L. Westbay charged her 45-year-old divorced husband with the slaying.

Chief Westbay said Joseph Hicks shot Mrs. Myrtle May Hicks three times, apparently once at close range, in the downtown bar at which the woman worked as a bartender.

Chief Westbay said a cab driver, John Flynn, who was a patron in Sportsman's grill at 7 a. m., gave this version of the shooting and identified Hicks as the man who fired at Mrs. Hicks:

Hicks came into the grill and demanded a drink from his wife, who refused him service.

The man then started behind the bar, with his former wife trying to prevent him from reaching a whiskey bottle.

Flynn said Hicks then drew a revolver from his pocket and fired two shots into the woman's abdomen.

The cab driver said he went next door, asked the bartender to call police and an ambulance, and returned to the grill. Hicks was gone and Mrs. Hicks lay on the floor, a third wound in her head.

Powder burns, said Chief Westbay, led police to believe the third bullet was fired at "extremely close range."

Hicks was arrested at the home of a son, Richard, 20.

Chief Westbay said the man, reported to be unemployed, had been at liberty on a $100 bond, charged with carrying concealed weapons after an arrest last July 2. Mrs. Hicks had obtained a divorce four days later. The Hicks were married 23 years ago.

Forget-Me-Not Sale Opened by D.A.V. Today

The annual Forget-me-not sale opened today at 11 a. m. and will be continued through tomorrow under the sponsorship of the Marion Chapter No. 22, Disabled American Veterans.

As in previous years, members of the chapter will be stationed in the downtown section with the flowers. Funds received are used to help veterans of all wars who are disabled, their families, or families of those who were killed in service and are in need of assistance. William Kehrwecker is in charge of the sales committee.

GAS SHORTAGE TO BE SEVERE

Despite Record Pipeline Construction, Expect Situation To Equal Last Year.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—The middle west's natural gas shortage this winter is expected to be as severe as last winter's, maybe even worse, despite approval of a record pipeline construction program.

The main reason cited is that gas pipeline companies have been unable to secure the pipe for their huge expansion plans.

The pipe just isn't being made fast enough to meet the demands of the industry, which has mushroomed out of the southwest in the last decade to bring natural gas to large sections of the nation for industrial uses and home heating.

Oil Industry Named

And, of course, the gas transport companies are not the only ones competing for the hard-to-get steel pipe. The oil industry is in the market, too, for new lines in this country and overseas.

One place in the middle west where the federal power commission foresees some improvement this winter is the Chicago area, where distributors are supplied by the Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, officials told a reporter.

The Texas Eastern Transportation Corp., operating the "big inch" pipelines built by the government to carry oil during the war, is installing 10 compressor stations to speed the flow of gas to the Appalachian area. Ohio gets the lion's share.

To Increase Capacity

The commission said these compressors, which push the gas through the pipe, will increase the daily capacity of the lines to 340,000,000 cubic feet, possibly by mid-winter.

The highest rate last year, when there were no compressors, was about 125,000,000 cubic feet, but the commission said the prospective increase in supply in the Appalachian area will be largely offset by the greater demand created by new gas installations since last winter.

Because of the gas shortage, state commissions in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, New York and Ohio have barred gas utilities from making new house-heating installations. In Pennsylvania conversion from other fuels to gas has been banned.

Fire Damages Block In Downtown Columbus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19—Fire, apparently undiscovered for several hours, today caused damage estimated at "several thousands of dollars" in a downtown business block (Third and Gay).

Six firm and a state office were damaged, with the Fehrman Garment Co. bearing the brunt of the blaze. Records of the Ohio aid for the aged division, on the fourth floor of the garment building, were water-damaged.

Battalion Chief Walter Hoelcher estimated the fire had burned several hours before the alarm was turned in.

SONG WRITER DIES

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13—The pen of Bert Kalmar, 63, writer of lyrics of some of the nation's leading song hits, has been stilled: Kalmar, writer of "Three Little Words" and "This Heart of Mine"—plus many Broadway musicals—died Wednseday night. Most of his works were in collaboration with Harry Ruby.

WORK STARTS IN 30 DAYS ON 12 NEW HOMES

R. T. Lewis Announces Plans for Building Program in Vernon Heights.

Indication that post war real estate development and new home building is picking up speed despite continued high construction costs and material shortages was given today with the announcement of further development in the Vernon Heights addition including the imminent construction of at least a dozen new homes.

R. T. Lewis, president of the Lewis company, real estate brokers, announced that 12 new homes are to go up in Vernon Heights. Construction of four of these is slated to get underway within 30 days. The new homes will be in the $15,000 to $20,000 class, Mr. Lewis said.

Extend Uhler Avenue

In Vernon Heights, Uhler avenue is being extended south from Mt. Vernon avenue, swinging westerly in a curve toward the Harding Memorial on Delaware avenue. The new extension, running over a third of a mile in all and underway at the present time, will be fully paved. The new homes are to be located on the east side of the extension south of Mt. Vernon avenue.

Mr. Lewis also announced that bids were being received this week for the laying of a new 24-inch storm water sewer leading into the Vernon Heights addition. The storm water sewer system will hook into the Quaqua tile and extend east to Summit street and Uhler avenue, a distance of approximately 1,400 feet, Mr. Lewis said.

Plan Other Extensions

Other extensions north and south are planned as development proceeds in the third and fourth addition. The third addition has been entirely taken up, Mr. Lewis reported.

Other new homes going up in the southeastern section of the city include several in the adjacent Allen and Elm Heights areas. The Steward Construction Co. started building a new home in King avenue about three weeks ago. Of brick construction, the house already is under roof. Another new home going up in that section includes that of William F. Ehrick, who is building on King avenue.

In Elm Heights, L. W. Pirstenberger is building on a corner location at Summit street and Lark avenue, two new homes are going up on the southern end of Forest street and construction is underway at the corner of Vernon Heights boulevard and Bexley avenue on the new home owned by W. Hoover Brown of the Wyandot Popcorn company. TheBrown home, a Florida type with tile roof is in the $50,000 class.

Mansfield Pages Ripley As Street Catches Fire

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Sept. 19—A street caught fire in Mansfield last night.

Firemen fought a stubborn subsurface blaze under 300 feet of Central avenue, a residential area more than a mile from downtown Mansfield, for four hours, ending at 1 a. m. today.

Wisps of smoke still rose from the avenue as workmen began tearing up the oil surface to get at the fire cause.

Fire Chief L. J. Steele theorized sand with a magnesium content under the surface caught fire from spontaneous combustion.

"This is the first time I ever had a street catch on fire," Chief Steele said.

Mrs. Wilson Spends Night Here

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the twenty-seventh president of the United States, was an almost unnoticed visitor in Marion last night. Arriving unannounced and without hotel reservations, the former First Lady reached here in the early evening from Washington, D. C. and left shortly after 8 a. m. today for Chicago. She was traveling by automobile. Except for a few people connected with the hotel, her presence here was not generally known.

Guests and diners at the hotel were unaware of the presence of the distinguished guest who dined alone in the hotel diningroom. She retired early, leaving word at the desk that she was not to be disturbed. The years have been kind to Mrs. Wilson who is 75, and she possesses the same charming personality which won her friends and popularity as the wife of the World War I President, those who recognized her say.

When Marion's Warren G. Harding succeeded her husband as head of the nation, Mrs. Wilson invited Mrs. Harding to the White House and showed her through the rooms. They discussed domestic details for some time and it was said that was the first time an outgoing First Lady of the land had sought to help the incoming mistress of the White House.

Manufacturers Stand Alone In Unconcern Over High Prices

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—Everybody but the manufacturer seems worried over a possible serious decline in consumer purchasing under the impact of the high cost of living.

The nation's merchants, in particular, fear that the current soaring food prices will mean a sharp decline in sales of non-food items.

A sampling of business opinion today disclosed manufacturers generally refuse to express deep concern over the possibility that production cuts may be necessary because the consumer is forced to spend more and more of his dollar for the essentials of living.

Their plants, they say, are running at top speed. Sales are holding at or near record highs. New orders continue to pile up. Inventories are not too much out of line, if at all, with today's high production level.

Personal incomes and national employment, in addition, have reached totals which before the war few people believed possible.

A few groups of consumers, they say, have been hurt and hurt badly by the steep rise in food prices. These include unorganized workers, low-salaried white-collar groups, and pensioners, annuitants or others living on small fixed incomes.

The cheerful view expressed by manufacturers does not mean they are unaware of the dangerous implications of runaway prices or the possibility that a boom-bust cycle may still be in the economic cards. Nor does it mean that optimism is unanimous.

See Relative Balance

They do claim (while admitting that prices on some foodstuffs are way out of line) that personal income, prices and production are still well enough in balance to indicate continued prosperity.

A directly contrary view is expressed by the nation's merchandisers and retailers. They state that rising prices for foods is having an unhealthy effect on retail sales.

The consumer, in other words, is syphoning money into his food budget that normally would be spent in the department store or neighborhood shop.

Statistical backing for this view, they claim, may be found in recent reports which show a shaky trend in retail sales totals as compared with a year ago.

In Wall Street, where the experts measure every twist and turn in the tide of business and finance, the outlook is viewed as cloudy.

Underproduction Held Real Cause Of High Prices

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—Senator Ives (R-NY) said today the world's economy is sick because of "underproduction" and soaring prices at home are only a symptom of this "disease."

"Everybody is talking about high prices and they are pretty bad," Ives told a reporter. "But we'll never get them down until we get production up."

Ives comment followed a report by the bureau of labor statistics placing wholesale prices of food and farm products at the highest level in history although wholesale prices for entire list of 900 commodities covered by the survey still were 5.9 per cent below the record set in 1920.

Sees Inflation Possibility

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) reiterated his contention that this country may have to put up with "inflation" if it is going to pay off the national debt and meet other costs of government.

Thomas added it may be another six years or even longer before the price situation becomes stabilized.

"It took eight years after World War I before the price level finally was set in 1926," the Oklahoma senator said in an interview. "If it took eight years after the first war to determine the base, it may take much longer following a much more expensive World War II to finally determine where the new level should be established."

"Inflation Already Here"

Thomas pointed to the rising BLS indexes, saying "that is inflation based on the 1926 level."

"But it may be necessary to have some such inflation to pay the high expenses of government," he added.

The BLS report on wholesale prices said that for farm products the index went to 187.3 per cent of the 1926 level, up 3.3 per cent from a month ago and 23.4 higher than a year ago. The food figures were put at 180.9 per cent of 1926, a gain of five per cent since last month and 41.2 since a year ago.

Average wholesale prices of 900 commodities were listed at 157.4 per cent of 1926 and 81.3 per cent higher than this time last year.

Like Ives, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) also stressed the idea that production holds the key to a solution to global economic ills.

3,000 Expected At G. O. P. Barbecue

More than 3,000 Republicans of the Eighth Ohio congressional district will convene tomorrow afternoon at Garfield park for the pit barbecue being tendered by Congressman Frederick C. Smith and Marion county G.O.P. organizations. Governor Thomas J. Herbert will fly here tomorrow afternoon to head the list of prominent guests.

Although no extensive speechmaking is scheduled, Congressman Smith believes that even in this "off year" district Republicans would enjoy renewing acquaintances and exchanging "political gossip," in view of the importance of the 1948 elections.

The meeting will get underway about 3 p. m. with the barbecue pit which is being prepared tonight scheduled to be opened at 5:30. The event will be held rain or shine as shelter houses are available at the park.

Unions Granted Delay On Anti-Red Pledges

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—The national labor relations board and Robert N. Denham, its general counsel, today allowed AFL and CIO top officers until Oct. 31 to sign affidavits disavowing communism.

The effect of the action is that the board will not dismiss AFL and CIO cases before that date.

Denham has interpreted the Taft-Hartley labor law as requiring national officers of the two big labor organizations to sign such affidavits if any AFL or CIO unions are to make use of the NLRB's services.

SWEEPS INLAND AFTER RAKING GULF COAST

South Arkansas, Baton Rouge Brace for Blow; Heavy Damage Feared.

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, SEPT. 19—A tropical hurricane roared inland today toward southern Arkansas, after raking New Orleans with destructive power that crushed buildings and flooded exposed areas of the Pontchartrain lakefront.

The weather bureau, in a 12:30 p. m. advisory, placed the storm's center 20 miles northwest of New Orleans. It was moving northwestward at 15 miles per hour, with winds ranging from 80 to 120 mph.

The advisory said the disturbance probably would reach southern Arkansas by midnight, with hurricane winds extending inland about 100 miles from the gulf coast.

Baton Rouge braced for the blow, and acting Gov. Emile Verret closed the capitol and sent home all state employes.

The deceptive calm of the hurricane's "eye," which began in New Orleans at 10:40 a. m., ceased at noon and thundering winds up to 90 mph beat the hapless city from the opposite direction. Col. Frank Speas ordered all National Guard units in New Orleans mobilized in Jackson barracks.

The entire Gulf coast, from Pensacola westward, was raked by cyclonic winds. More than 1,000 residents of Alabama fishing villages raced for high ground from coastal areas where two giant storms took hundreds of lives in 1916. Water three feet deep was reported in the settlement of Heron.

Timber Piers Snapped

Near Biloxi, Miss., stout timber piers were snapped like matchsticks, and roofs were torn from many homes. A tide 10 feet above normal flooded residential areas, and gigantic waves broke over the city's $3,500,000 seawall, built 20 years ago against storms. Highway 90 was impassable and was studded with stalled automobiles.

The steamship Empire State snapped its hawsers and reeled away from the Congress street wharf in New Orleans, but the master succeeded in reaching midstream and both anchors were dropped. A destroyer-escort broke loose and rammed the Algiers ferry.

Moisant International airport, 14 miles west of New Orleans, reported the roof torn off its main building. The field itself was under a foot of water.

The 130-foot smokestack atop the Hotel Monteleone, in the French quarter of New Orleans, collapsed across two buildings but no one was hurt.

Conveyor Slams Shed

A banana conveyor was slammed against the top of a shed at Erato street, causing unestimated damage.

A three-story health center clinic on Rampart street, on the edge of the business district, was unroofed and one wall caved in under the storm's impact. A residence on North Broad street collapsed but no injuries were reported.

There was no estimate of possible casualties along the Gulf coast, but it was feared that injuries and property damage would greatly exceed the toll in Florida. There, where the storm struck two days ago, only five lives were lost although property damage soared to many millions.

Building Feared Inadequate

Authorities expressed fear that many flimsy buildings of war time construction along the Gulf coast and in New Orleans would not be able to withstand the battering.

Acting Governor Emile Verret ordered all state facilities for disaster placed at the disposal of the city of New Orleans.

State patrolmen were ordered to the lake front where police reported wide areas under water rising above the three-foot mark.

Red Cross headquarters made an emergency appeal for small boats, especially skiffs to navigate streets in the lake front area.

Authorities warned all residents of outlying areas to try to get to the center of the city by any means possible. They said it was dangerous to remain in outlying areas.

The control tower at the New Orleans airport has been evacuated. The wind instruments broke after registering 80 miles an hour winds.

It was reported that weather bureaus elsewhere, either at Washington or Fort Worth, may have to take over the task of issuing advisories.

Two persons have been injured, but not seriously. Property damage already was high.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Disintegrating Brickwork

Q: We have a century-old farmhouse, in good preservation except that it appears that an insect or worm is attacking the center walls, which are built of brick. In places the brick is disintegrating and falls on the basement floor in a fine red powder Could it be a matter of age and pressure?

A: If you find insects or worms in the basement, they are probably attacking the wood sills, not the bricks. The bricks are most likely crumbling because of old age. I advise you to have a mason repaint the joints between the bricks, (if they require it,) and do whatever he finds necessary. The surface of the brickwork could be protected with a coat or two of damproof cement paint; this would not harden the bricks throughout, however. Very poor brick should be replaced with a harder burned type. If you must do the repainting job yourself, first rake out the joints to a depth of about half an inch, and clean out loose bits. Wet the grooves and pack with a fairly stiff mixture of 1 part portland cement, 1 part hydrated lime, and 5 parts clean, coarse building sand, with just enough water to make a stiff, workable mixture. The painting should be done afterward.

Grease Spot on Chair

Q: I splashed grease from frying chicken on a leatherette kitchen chair The grease has made a golden yellow mark on the light green leatherette. How can I remove this?

A: I doubt if you can remove the stain completely. You may take some of the green color out of the leatherette. Try sponging the leatherette with saddle-soap, on sale at a leather goods store, and probably at your drug store. Rinse afterward. If this does not succeed, I advise you to replace the leatherette with another type of cover, more suitable for a kitchen New materials are now being advertised that are proof against damage of different kinds, and are suitable for tables, shower curtains, and many other things

PAINT ON WINDOW FRAMES

Q.: The inside woodwork around our windows is painted white, and is peeling and checking quite badly I plan to have it repainted and would like to have the trouble corrected first. What should be done.

A.: After scraping and sanding off the old paint, have your painter fill cracks and crevices on the outside with caulking compound, applied with a caulking gun. Inside cracks can be filled with putty. For window woodwork a good enamel could be used, which will withstand moisture better than a flat paint. One coat of enamel undercoater should first be applied, of the same brand as the finish enamel Paint in the grooves in which the windows slide should be put on thin, to avoid future sticking.

Covering for Flat Roof

Q. I have a two-flat building with a flat roof, and must have a new roof this spring Would you advise me which makes the better roof: Asphalt or paper and gravel?

A. Either tar and tarred felt or asphalt and asphalt saturated felt, can be used. I have no preference. A gravel surface on either type of roof will protect it against wear and disintegration by the direct rays of the sun.

"Transfer Graining Paper"

Q. Where can I buy a "transfer graining paper," like the one used in automobile plants on the instrument panels in cars? Paint dealers do not know about this

A. Wood grained "transfers" such as you described are not sold through retail outlets. The nearest material that might be available is a wood grained wallpaper which has been sold by the better wallpaper dealers. Ask the one in your community to get some for you, if such wallpaper will answer your needs.

Be sure
of fuel oil supply
BEFORE
you install any
oil-burning equipment?

Our best advice: Don't install any oil-burning equipment unless you have positive assurance of your full winter's oil requirements in advance. Get written assurance.

This applies equally to small oil burners such as space or room heaters as well as to larger equipment.

Next winter, the demand for fuel oil will be higher than ever before . . . double that of 1941. And although refinery capacity has been increased and today's crude oil reserves are at an all time high, the steel shortage results in a transportation pinch. The construction of pipe lines and other petroleum transportation has not kept pace with demand due to other postwar shortages that are familiar to everyone.

WHAT SOHIO IS DOING

To assure our contracted home heating customers of their required Sohio-Heat for next winter we have—

1. Reluctantly ceased to take on new home oil heating commitments.
2. Offered contracts to all previous regular customers for next winter's requirements.
3. Arranged during this non-heating period to fill every customer's home storage tank to the brim.
4. Offered low cost arrangements for increasing customers' home storage.
5. Made every effort to keep oil-burning equipment dealers fully informed of the fuel oil situation.
6. Built large new Sohio fuel oil storage.

"It is here that the world will organize peace or hasten war. The moment is crucial . . . More than two years have elapsed since the end of the war but a real peace has not yet been achieved."

Blames Veto Use

Mexican Foreign Minister Jaime Torres Bodet yesterday told the assembly that persistent use of the big power veto has paralyzed the cause of world peace. There is danger, he said, that the abuse of the veto in the security council may make peace impossible. And a pessimistic picture of world affairs was presented by Juan Carlos Blanco, Uruguayan ambassador to Washington.

Few observers would dispute these observations. World peace certainly is in jeopardy. And the United Nations is fighting for its life because of the divergence of views between Russia and the democracies.

We now must wait to see what Russia will do, but there is this current Soviet viewpoint to be added. Moscow newspaper yesterday published a dispatch from New York by Tass, the official news agency, asserting that American policy in the UN seeks to subject the world peace organization to the White House or, failing that, to wreck the UN.

Drivers Class Opens At Upper High School

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept 19—Enrolled in a new class this term at Upper Sandusky High school are 20 Juniors and Seniors who are learning to drive. The instructor, is Cletus Sweigard, Industrial Arts teacher and line coach for the football squad.

Mr Sweigard, a Bowling Green university graduate, attended the AAA sponsored course on all phases of the teaching of driving at Ohio State university during the summer term. Three days a week the class hour is given to the study of traffic laws and regulations, safe driving habits, sportsmanlike driving habits, rules of pedestrians, social responsibility and the parts of the car.

Two days a week are spent in actual driving practice in the training car equipped with dual controls. Text books and testing devices are being provided for the class by the AAA.

New Orleans Hit by Hurricane

cedure of caring for evacuees he said a group of "rowdies" outside a shelter in a public school grabbed milk before it could be taken inside to babies.

Relief army equipment was rushed to a shelter center in the municipal auditorium.

The last train reported to arrive here was the Southern Pacific railway system's Pelican, which crept into the station after a hectic ride across a railroad bridge spanning Lake Ponchartrain. Crew members said the lake was "as rough as any ocean we've ever seen."

The barometer dropped to 28.79, the lowest in 20 years, according to Weather Bureau Forecaster Allan Aime. He said the all-time low for New Orleans was 28.11 Sept. 29, 1911.

Communication lines between New Orleans and the north failed about 8 a. m. The line to Texas was still holding intact at 9 a. m.

A wall of water driven by 60 miles per hour winds forced the Navy to evacuate the naval air station at Lake Ponchartrain early this morning. Little damage was done, although water was three feet deep over the base.

All naval buildings were evacuated, as well as homes of enlisted men and officers.

Automobiles Stopped

Persons driving into New Orleans from the Gulf coast were being stopped by state highway patrol officers and requested to aid in the evacuation of persons in the low-lying areas around Lake Ponchartrain.

James M. Coleman, amateur radio operator here, said "hams" have lined up contacts with amateur operators in nearby states to handle emergency calls.

A huge air continuing unit atop the Whitney National bank was torn from its moorings, lifted across the building top and dumped into Poydras street in the city's downtown section.

Highways along Mississippi's Gulf coast were reported flooded at several points where water surged over the seawall.

Irvine Levi, another ham operator, said most points on the coast had gone off the air because of power failure. The Fort Sulphur station said it had to conserve power.

Executive Director J. J. Kramer of the Louisiana Restaurant association said all cafe men in the New Orleans area were being contacted, and asked to make their facilities available in feeding persons evacuated from their homes.

Ferry Service Halted

Ferry service was halted between New Orleans on the west bank of the Mississippi river because water was too choppy.

The first reported injury sustained in the hurricane here was Edgar Joseph, 39. He was cut in the eye by flying glass.

Richard Norton, 16, was treated for scalp wounds after a tent mainstay at a skating rink collapsed and struck him on the head.

Radio communications between police headquarters and squad cars was disrupted.

Patrolmen were ordered to report to headquarter every 15 minutes.

A woman anticipating child birth was unable to obtain medical aid in Bucktown because of flooded conditions. Residents evacuating persons from the section by wading through thigh-deep water called an ambulance. When it arrived, high water halted it and it returned to the city. She was cared for by relatives at a pumping station.

The New Orleans weather bureau said communications were failing rapidly. Pensacola and Mobile could no longer be reached. Other points dropped out quickly. The bureau said it anticipated that the Washington bureau soon would have to take over the function of issuing storm advisories.

Trolley cars were stranded up and down Canal street as the result of failure of the system in the commercial district.

Lakeshore hospital near Ponchartrain reported it was surrounded by 12 inches of water. The flood had not crept into the hospital itself, and the roof was reported holding. Hospital authorities said they were unable to evacute patients, but that morale was high.

Countless thousands fled for shelter before the terrifying blow, which roared out of the Gulf after strewing multi-million dollar devastation across Florida only two days ago.

Approximately 8,500 persons huddled in New Orleans' municipal auditorium, and another 20,000 were reported sheltered in 40 city schools.

Many of the refugees were French-speaking fishermen, trappers and truck farmers from the picturesque bayou regions—the famed "Evangeline country"—below New Orleans. Two babies were born in the auditorium as the storm howled.

A fishing vessel with two aboard was reported missing in the gulf.

The entire Gulf coast, from Pensacola to Morgan City, La., reported hurricane or near-hurricane winds. Pensacola was hammered by 95-mile guests and winds up to 80 miles tore at Mobile. Rich pecan-growing areas were being devastated, as the wins previously had ravaged the citrus groves of southern Florida.

Five Fatalities Recorded

Five fatalities were charged to the great storm in Florida, but there was no indication of probable casualties in the new storm area.

Stinging, driving rain cut the hurricane murk, levelling small crops and beating cane fields. The lower Mississippi area below New Orleans was a yellowish-grey as the cyclonic wind spewed powdered sulphur through the air.

More than 10,000 persons were hastily evacuated from flimsy, war-built housing projects along the coast, and apprehension was felt for the frame structures.

Authoritative sources said the Gulf coast was ill-prepared for the great blow, and in contrast with Florida was likely to suffer colossal damage.

Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans proclaimed a state of emergency at 7:30 a. m. and ordered all persons to remain indoors, off the streets, and out of the downtown area unless their presence was absolutely necessary.

Sign Crashes To Street

The emergency order was issued shortly after a huge sign atop a downtown department store had crashed into Canal street. No one was injured. The three-story New Orleans health center, three blocks from Canal street, was unroofed, and one wall caved in under the hammering wind.

A 40-foot clock near Ponchartrain beach was smashed to bits, and historic avenues in New Orleans, lined by stately oats, were green-carpeted with foliage, torn limbs, burning wires and debris.

Wind-piled waters of shallow Lake Pontchartrain poured over the seawall and flooded a belt three blocks deep along the waterfront, causing total evacuation of the area by Army trucks. Fashionable Lake Shore hospital was threatened, but was not immediately evacuated.

Twenty-one patients and nurses were sped from the Army air base hospital to sturdy Charity hospital in downtown New Orleans.

Soup kitchens were set up by the Red Cross and other agencies, with relief operations centered on the great municipal auditorium.

First Since 1915

It was the first serious tropical storm in this area since 1915, when 350 persons lost their lives along the Louisiana-Mississippi coast.

Between 50 and 100 ships were tied up or anchored in the Mississippi river at New Orleans, and it appeared that the storm would thunder directly through the helpless fleet. All along the coast shrimpers and small fishing craft huddled for safety in bayous and coves, hoping to escape the blow.

One unusual "crop loss" which threatened was in the swampy country below New Orleans where French-speaking trappers take hundreds of thousands of pelts annually. It was feared that winds and flood waters would kill multitudes of the little animals.

Florida saw the last of the great storm early Thursday when it screamed into the Gulf after slashing like a mowing-machine through the swank resort sections of the east coast and westward across the citrus and truck-farming mucklands of the Everglades.

Florida was in the dreary patch-up stage today, and preliminary tabulations indicated that destruction would range upwards from $12,000,000. This figure was reported from six urban centers, and did not include citrus and farm damage, or devastation suffered in smaller communities.

Marion Army Gridder Suffers Knee Injury

Stewart "Bud" Young, former Harding football and basketball star, sustained a knee injury in Army grid practices that may keep him out for the season, according to The Associated Press.

Young graduated from Harding in 1944 and is in his last year at West Point. He had been slated for a first string end post this season.

SEW FOR RELIEF

Sewing was done for European relief at an all day meeting of the W.S.C.S. of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church Tuesday at the church. Three comforts were knotted. Morning and afternoon study periods on stewardship were in charge of Mrs. E. E. Nietz of Columbus, wife of Dr. Nietz, conference superintendent. A picnic luncheon was served at the noon hour.

Morgenthau reveals the late ... Hopkins as a padder of re... lief rolls in election years, a presidential yes-man and the best spender of the lot. It was Hopkins who did the direct relief spending for Mr. Roosevelt until national defense and war spending swamped those projects and Harry-the-Hop became F.D.R.'s ambassador extraordinary and adviser on high policy. Hopkins was counted here as the man most loyal to the president and there is nothing in Morgenthau's report to the contrary.

Wallace Brushed Off

Henry A. Wallace is brushed off by his former cabinet colleague as a waster of public funds who was intimidated by the farm organizations.

"Wallace's whole theory of spending in order to reduce agricultural production always seemed nonsense to me," Morgenthau writes. He said Wallace's overhead over a period of nine months to "give away" $516,000,000 was $130,000,000.

"As for Harold L. Ickes, he was so anxious to keep graft and politics out of the public works program that he practically spent money through an eyedropper."

Morgenthau continued. "Ickes' slowness in making decisions was sometimes a real handicap."

Both Ickes and Wallace are likely to be heard from in response to Morgenthau's charges against them. Ickes was the best brawler with words in the New Deal, after the late Hugh (Iron Pants) Johnson. If he takes out after Morgenthau the latter had better stuff his ears with cotton.

Morgenthau gives Hopkins' padding of relief rolls the once-over-lightly and it goes like this:

"Harry and I got along well basically during our years in Washington, though we occasionally had sharp differences. One such occasion was when he confused relief with politics.

Drops 150,000 Reliefers

"During the 1936 presidential campaign, relief rolls increased. After the election, Hopkins insisted that he could drop 150,000 relief worker.

"'If you can find 150,000 people now on relief rolls who you say are not in need of relief,' I asked Harry, 'how are you going to answer the charge that you must have known that these people were not in need of relief?

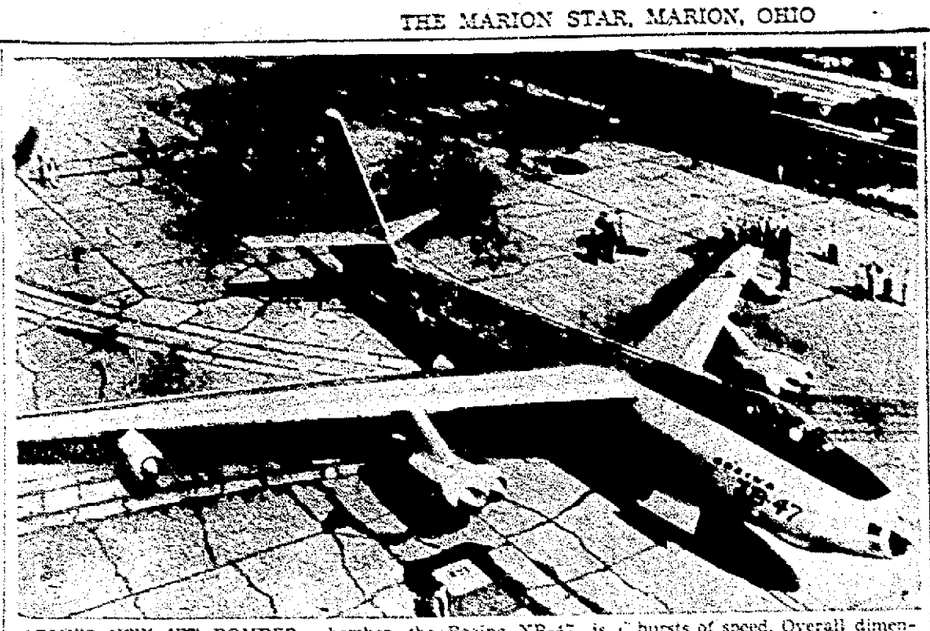
"'How can you explain in the month of December, two weeks before Christmas, that you can find 150,000 not in need or relief when you could not discover this excess on your rolls a month earlier?'"

But Morgenthau admired Hopkins, even when his spending seemed ill-considered and extravagant. Morgenthau tells how Hopkins picked up an extra $100,000,000 for spending while in the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn. Aubrey Williams, then Hopkins deputy spending administrator, called Morgenthau and said Hopkins was to be operated on in a few hours and that another $100,000,000 was urgently needed by his organization.

Williams told Morgenthau Hopkins might not survive the operation and he wanted to make him happy with some more money in his last hours.

"We got the president to release $100,000,000 in reserve funds to the works progress administration," is the way Morgenthau ends that tale.

That hurry-up order for a budget director with which Morgenthau's story begins was to fill the job held by Lewis Douglas, now United States ambassador to Great Britain. Morgenthau explains that Douglas was "the great advocate of a balanced budget." He didn't last long.



ARMY'S NEW JET BOMBER READY FOR GROUND TESTS. In preparation for taxi and ground tests at Seattle, the Army's newest jet propelled bomber, the Boeing XB-47, is rolled from its hangar. Powered by six jet engines, the huge craft also has rocket motors near the tail for emergency bursts of speed. Overall dimensions of the new bomber are similar to those of the B-29 Superfortress. It is the first jet bomber with swept-back wings.

SKIRTS "IMMORAL." Pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church in Washington, D. C., Rev. A. Powell Davies claims the new women's fashions are "immoral, moronic and a crime against decency." Davies is appealing to American women not to wear longer skirts, which, he says, "are immoral because they waste material needed by the world's suffering people."

ASHWORTHS INTERVIEWED IN AMVETS BROADCAST

Freedom's Worth Having

COMMUNISTS have picketed the Freedom train in Philadelphia, its first stop. The commie program calls for similar demonstrations wherever the seven-car train bearing the nation's historic treasures appears. It is part of the master plan of Communists in this country to spread confusion as a prelude to destroying the government and setting up an authoritarian state.

It also is part of something else—the thing the Freedom train is supposed to dramatize. Communists in this country are free to do whatever comes to their minds, short of incitement to actual revolution. Freedom in the United States is a vital, dynamic thing, or it is nothing. If it cannot survive the mischief of a handful of dissatisfied revolutionaries and knuckle-heads, it isn't worth having. In their way, the Communists may be doing the country a favor.

An American who had served with the U.S. army in Germany after the end of the war and had seen dozens of trains bearing displaced persons to and from destinations that were not of their choosing said when he read about the freedom train now starting its tour of the United States: "If more Americans could see the trains I saw they'd know what a freedom train means. People in this country don't really know what freedom is any more because they've always had it."

Tension at the Border

UNITED STATES and British troops have been just a step from undeclared war in the Trieste area, where eager-beaver Yugoslav troops have been chafing at the bit to move into new territory. Fingers on triggers, Americans and British faced Yugoslavs along an imaginary line. An untoward word or gesture would have precipitated an international incident. At one place two American officers eased the tension by having an accordianist strike up a tune and then dancing with two Yugoslav girls.

It is to the credit of the American officers that they gave no order to retreat and to the credit of the troops that they didn't precipitate an incident. It would have been folly for either side to have suffered casualties in a futile skirmish over a few yards of grass and corn. It would have been just as foolish for our troops to have given ground, for then there might have been no stopping the strongly nationalist Yugoslavs. It was a bad situation and our side brought it off well.

A Lot of Wind

ALMOST every year at this time, the nation has a hurricane which may sweep harmlessly up the broad expanse of the Atlantic, but just as often strikes the seaboard, with a shattering of planks and glass and a hail of flying palm fronds.

It is then that editorial writers grope for something to say about hurricanes. They can take a stand against them, for like the man-eating shark hurricanes are insensitive to criticism, or they can mediate on ways of controlling them. This year they pondered the possibilities of atom bombs being used to dissipate them, regretfully decided it would be like spitting in the ocean.

One writer figured that a respectable hurricane wasted enough power to generate nation's electricity for 200 years. Anyone wishing to pursue this subject farther may learn, with the aid of a self-cocking abacus, that the energy expended by a hurricane is the equivalent of that provided by 3,750,000,000 squirrels on treadmills 24 hours a day for one year. Or, to put it another way, the energy expended in one minute by a king-size hurricane would drive for 100 years all the typewriters of editorial writers setting down profound thoughts about hurricanes.

Who's Losing?

NOTHING could be further from the truth than the popular notion that Russian obstructionism has caused the United States to lose face as chief backer of the United Nations.

The United States has gained prestige, on the contrary, for the simple reason that it now offers the alternative to Russian domination. Instead of security being the collective responsibility of the United Nations, as originally intended, it has become the unilateral responsibility of the United States, the only nation with enough military power to be an effectual force in the event of war.

Meanwhile, the Russians have lost all the good will they might have claimed as a result of their courageous conduct in the war. They have made the Communist party more than ever a synonym for intrigue, treason and betrayal. The most-feared nation on earth today is the Soviet Union—most feared and least respected.

The crime of the Kremlin is not what it seeks to do to populations outside Russia, but what it is doing to the population of Russia by depriving it of what little remains of good will in an era of fear and hatred.

Redistribution of Wealth

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Jimmy Roosevelt Gets His Economics Confused.

JAMES ROOSEVELT, Democratic chairman of California, got himself into one of those arguments on the radio which are called "Meet the Press." The newspapermen on that show are usually fast on their feet, and Larry Spivak of "the American Mercury" is a gadfly. So they got James Roosevelt on the subject of communism, which is important in California where it acts as a substitute for marijuana for some of the Hollywood contingent. The redoubtable Jimmy, who had tried politics in New York, Massachusetts and Washington and who has now settled for California, was put on the spot when he was asked whether he believed "American Communists are loyal to the American way of life."

He answered:

"That is a rather difficult question to answer, because what you are trying to ask me to answer is whether or not I know what is in the minds of all the Communists, and of course I don't individually. I can't help but feel that those Communists who are open and frank enough to come out and say that they would like to see in the United States the kind of a government which is now operating in Russia, are not loyal to the American way of life. On the other hand, I must frankly say to you that I feel there are some Communists and some principles that they believe in which, if adopted in this country, would not be particularly bad for our American way of life; but it is the totalitarian part of it that I think we all disagree with, who are devoted to the American way of life."

Now that answer was wrong for the following reasons:

▶ Anybody who wants to can know what is in the minds of Communists, American or otherwise. A wide literature consisting of books for all degrees of intelligence has been published by the Communists, their fellow-travelers and their opponents, setting forth their conceptions from the canonical writings of Marx, Engels, Bukharin, Lenin, Stalin, Trotzky, and a host of others in Europe, American and everywhere. There is also a periodical press of monthlies, weeklies and dailies. Only a lazy man can say that he does not know what is in the Communist mind because if he wants to know, it is all laid out for him to see.

▶ Roosevelt makes a distinction between some and other Communists. That is nonsense. The Communist party is a disciplined organization, the members of which must abide by party decision or get out. There are constant expulsions and purges for what they call "deviations," as for example, Trotzky from the Russian party or Earl Browder from the American party.

So after that answer, they had James Roosevelt by asking him which part of communism he likes and it turned out that ". . . There is not sufficient distribution of wealth in the United States is something that I, for one, would agree with them about."

Wrong Guess

Wrong again. Communists do not believe in the redistribution of wealth. They believe in the nationalization of wealth. They do not believe that if Mr. Rockefeller's money were divided up among 145,000,000 Americans, it would do anybody any good. They do believe that all the means of production and distribution shall be owned and operated by the government. In a word, they believe in the establishment of a state mononoly of the wealth of a people, that is, the natural resources, the tolls, the means of communication and distribution and even the manpower. None of this has anything to do with the redistribution of wealth.

The remainder of the argument about the redistribution of wealth was too juvenile to bother with because James Roosevelt confused wealth with money, whereas national wealth consists principally in resources and tools. For instance, if a man owns $8,000,000, he does not have that in money, if he has any brains, but in receipts for the ownership or partial ownership of tools, resources, etc. In a word, he holds stocks, bonds, debentures, mortgages, and such devices which acknowledge investment in production or distribution.

Jimmy's heart may be all right but he needs a refresher course in elementary economics.

A New Radio Program —We the Patients?

For the first time in medical and radio history, an actual surgical operation has been televised.

It sounds spectacular enough, all right, but one doubts somehow that it'll ever replace Lum and Abner.

After all, it would be a trifle incongruous to pause in the midst of an appendectomy for a few words from the sponsor.

Moreover, that would be one audience participation program on which there would be a definite shortage of volunteers.

The idea of having one's operation publicized from coast to coast via television might appeal to some people, but it can hardly be expected to supplant the traditional word-of-mouth method.

A picture may indeed be worth ten thousand words . . but not where a lady patient is concerned.

No Fanfare for Royal Wedding

Glamor-Starved Britons To Be Disappointed.

LONDON — Glamor-starved Britons who hoped that the grinding monotony of "we work or we want" would be relieved by a round of exciting, handsome social functions preceding the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Philip Mountbatten have been disappointed again.

Their government can not afford the indulgence.

From members of the royal household it was learned that virtually the only events preliminary to the ceremony in Westminster Abbey Nov. 20 will be private ones—a dinner here, a reception there, a modest party somewhere else—and these, it was affirmed, would not unduly tax privy purse or public treasury.

Normally there would be at east one full state dinner for foreign royalty, high-ranking diplomats and other illustrious guests; a grand ball reminiscent of opulent, ornate times; colorful receptions at royal establishments, and perhaps touches of anticipatory pageantry. All that is ruled out because Britain is hard up, plagued by shortages of essentials, and generally care-ridden.

As tentative arrangements now stand, the public might enjoy a look-in at only one show, and that merely a rehearsal of the wedding, with stand-ins for all the principals. And to get a peep at shadows rather than substance, people probably would have to be up pretty early, as such practicing customarily is done first thing in the morning when traffic is light and the risk of crowd obstruction relatively mild.

No date, however, has been set for a rehearsal, which will entail chiefly a trial run, with horses, carriages and outriders, over the route from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey, and back again, in order to achieve perfect timing, and a run through the wedding ritual itself, clergy, choir and standins taking part.

In line with the king's wishes to observe strictest economy, plans for flood-lighting public buildings in London on the night of Nov. 20 have been cancelled. Probably the only building to be illuminated will be Buckingham Palace, making it easier for the crowds to see Princess Elizabeth and Philip if they appear outside.

Guides Hear Same Questions

By HOWARD DOBSON

By HOWARD DOBSON

WASHINGTON — When a tourist asks where the President's bedroom is in the capitol, Harry Nash is not surprised. He has heard that one for 33 years.

Nash is captain of the capitol guide force and works for two men who have never taken one of his tours. He started as a guide in 1914 and has been captain 10 years.

One of the questions most frequently asked, he says, is where does the President live.

There is a "President's Room" off the senate chamber, but it is used only on ceremonial occasions.

The guides have an almost autonomous organization. They elect their own captain each year, and the entire force divvies up equally the fees charged for tours of the building. Adults pay 25 cents, children 15, and men and women of the armed services nothing.

The guides are supervised by the Capitol Police Board, which consist of the capitol architect, David Lynn and the sergeants-at-arms of congress—Edward F. McGinnis of the senate and William F. Russell of the house.

McGinnis and Russell pick the staff of 20 guides. The jobs are patronage, shared by the house and senate, but in actual practice the turnover is very low. Most of the present guides have been on the job for years—one for 19 years.

Until recently, the force included a former member of congress, Charles R. Evans, who was in the house from 1918 to 1920. He was from Nevada, but when he failed to win re-election in 1920 he decided to stay in Washington and went to work as a guide.

Rep. Stockman (R-Ore) was a guide for six weeks last summer, filling in for a friend who got the job but could not go to work at once.

Tourists who take the tours get a brisk 45-minute dose of concentrated history. They hear, for example, of the cornerstone laying in 1793, the burning by British troops in 1814 and so on.

They see the room occupied by the supreme court until 1935 when it moved into its own building.

The first supreme court, which had only three justices, met from 1801 to 1808 in a tiny room which is now McGinnis' private office. The attorney general's room was an adjoining cubbyhole hardly large enough for more than a desk and a few chairs.

The guides take between 800 and 1,000 persons through the building every day during the big season—July and August. The tours have been going since 1876.

Nash's hobby is capitols. When he is on a vacation trip, he drops in on as many capitols as he can. He has been in the capitols of New York, Ohio, Nevada, Utah, Colorado and California—some of them as many as five times.

Means of Relief for Italy

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 — A curious round-about method of dealing with the ominous economic and political crisis in Italy, which has been described in reports from Rome appearing in this space, is now being seriously considered by worried officials in Washington and London. It is a method which might also be applied to the similar crisis in France. If it is finally decided upon, it is certain to have far-reaching effects.

Briefly the idea—and it is, at the present writing, no more than an idea—is to apply part of the frozen $400,000,000 remnant of the British loan to the immediate dollar needs of Italy and France. This suggestion is reported already to have been introduced informally between the American and British officials at the monetary conference in London. Moreover, some days ago the Italian government requested Britain to allow convertibility into dollars of the Italian sterling balances. The Italians have asked for $24,000,000 in a lump sum, and $6,000,000 a month thereafter. Italian officials have urged the state department to support Italy in this request.

The American policy makers have refused to commit themselves until more is known of the British reaction. But they are nevertheless seriously interested in the idea. The reason is simple. As Secretary of State George C. Marshall has clearly indicated, something must be done to stave off total economic collapse in Italy and France before the new year. Yet it seems anything but probable that the Congress, even in special session, will act so soon. And if a minimum of dollar aid is not forthcoming to keep Italy and France going as the winter sets in, there is every likelihood that the debate on the Marshall plan will become meaningless. Western Europe will fall to Communism. Europe as a whole will become part of a vast Soviet-dominated alliance, precisely the end which the Marshall plan was primarily designed to avert.

Quick Action Needed

Thus it is absolutely essential to act more quickly than it is at all likely that Congress will be willing to act. It was largely out of deference to Congress that the last $400,000,000 of the British loan was frozen. It was frozen because the borrower—Great Britain—was unable to meet the conditions of the loan. The chief of these conditions which the British were unable to meet was the provision making sterling convertible into dollars on current account.

Since the freezing of the loan and the end of convertibility, the large sterling balance held by Italy and France have become useless to both countries. Sterling will not buy the wheat which the Italian and French governments need to feed their people, nor the coal which they need to keep their industries operating. However, if a part of the remnant of the British loan were unfrozen for the specific purposes of allowing Italy and France to convert a portion of their sterling holding into dollars, the immediate crisis in these two countries would be at least partially alleviated. Thus the American Congress and the American people would be given the time in which to consider and to debate the vast long-term project to help Europe permanently back on its feet.

Could Meet Objections

Moreover, it is argued, the unfreezing of the loan for this specific purpose would be entirely legal, and any congressional objections could be logically met. For just as the loan was frozen because the borrower was unable to meet his obligations under the terms of the loan, it would now be unfrozen so that the borrower could meet these obligations.

The key, of course, is the reaction of the borrower, Great Britain. Any such step would certainly be politically dangerous to the British government. British Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton, whose reputation for political courage is not high, has already requested Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder to free the remainder of the loan for Britain's use. If the British government were now to agree to free the money, not for the use of Britain, but for Italy and France, the domestic political reaction in England might be nothing short of explosive. The British people, painfully tightening their belts for lack of dollars, would not easily understand why the dollars of the British loan were going to France, and to Italy, an ex-enemy country.

Yet certain facts remain. The frozen remainder of the loan is now doing the British no good. Moreover the British, unlike the Italians and the French, have a gold and dollar reserve sufficiently large to tide Britain over until the Marshall plan can reasonably be expected to come into operation. Finally, Communist success in Italy and France would be a disaster to the United States, but it would be a far more immediate disaster to England. A Communist Europe would mean a Britain cut off, surrounded on a ninety degree arc, economically isolated. That is why the British government may yet be persuaded to take a frightening short-term risk as long-term insurance against catastrophe. Even so, British agreement to take such a risk now would be little short of miraculous.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Sept. 19, 1927.

Under cloudy skies, reminiscent of the "sunny France" that the doughboys knew, the second A. E. F., led by General John J. Pershing, paraded through flag-draped streets in Paris.

Mrs. H. Edmund Hill of Marion, visited the office of Governor Donahey to appeal for the liberation of Mrs. Eva Katherine Kaber of Cleveland, from the state reformatory.

Mrs. Millie Tschanen and daughter, Eloise of South Prospect street, Mrs. Frances Dowell and Mrs. Hazel Eckfeld and daughter, Jean of Chase street returned from a visit with Mrs. Eva Brigle of Wellsville.

The temperature dropped to a low of 45 to equal the season's low record of Aug. 25. High was 66, lowest maximum temperature of the season.

Charles Wiley of East Church street, commander of Cooper Post No. 117, G.A.R. and William Gabler of Waldo returned from Grand Rapids, Mich. where they attended the national G.A.R. encampment.

Rocks, Trees, Water

By TRUMAN TWILL

WHEN the sky's blue from rim to rim and the sunlight sparkles on the bright sequins of the endless lakes up north, it's time to leave the brick wall of the apartment across the street and wonder if things are still good with John Proulx. They probably are.

John is a part-time guide, part-time commercial fisherman, part-time handy-man, part-time logger who lives in a speck of a village at the top of Georgian Bay—a speck of a village set down among some of the biggest scenery in North America.

He appreciates the grandeur that surrounds him unlike many of the beneficiaries of beautiful scenery. John Proulx admires it enough without calling attention to the shadows on the hills, the bright outcropping of silicon, fish gulls bobbing on the waves, trees that have won their battle for life against unusual adversity. One secret that here, for a change, is a man who has achieved affinity with his environment, one wedded to the rocks, trees and endless water of the place where he has lived all his life and out quite knowing how lucky he was to be born there instead of in a slum.

There is a Mrs. Proulx, who suits John and two little Proulx's, who suit him too. The name of the family is French, but all the French characteristics were flooded out generations ago by the irresistible surge of Indian characteristics—deep-set eyes, dark skins, straight black hair, a great love of listening and a personal weakness for the heady spirits unfailingly provided by the free-enterprise system in its far-flung operations in the Near North.

In the fortnight, less an odd day or two, we spent learning to know John Proulx as a guide, few fish were caught but a lot of time into a thing that puzzles many casual visitors into the big country north of the Great Lakes. To them it looks as if there was nothing there but rocks, trees and water, with a scattered, almost moneyless population scratching out a meager living.

There's something else the casual visitor never see or feel—a grandeur of the earth where no hot-dog stands or skyscrapers stand in the way, a grandeur of men when they no longer travel in packs and rely on mass production for everything, including their thoughts.

When the sky's blue and the sunlight sparkles it's time to wonder how things are with John Proulx. Probably all right. Maybe a little too much of this, or too little of that. Perhaps another little Proulx by this time. But on the basis average, there are no complaints. No serious ones, that is, such as why is it that when a fellow needs to go fishing he must look at the brick wall of the apartment across the street. John Proulx wouldn't know about that. When he feels like going fishing he goes fishing. It's as simple as that.

Mother Ransoms Baby For $20 at Columbus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19 — A Reynoldsburg, O., mother paid $20 and her purse last night to a man who snatched her 20-month-old daughter as hostage, Columbus police reported.

Mrs. Hilda Lunn told police she was seated in her automobile in downtown Columbus when the baby snatcher grabbed little Susan Lunn from the machine and demanded her purse.

"Give me that bag and everything that's in it or I'll kill the baby," she quoted the man.

When Mrs. Lunn handed over her purse, the man placed Susan on the seat and ran.

N.Y.C. OFFICIAL FLAYS C. AND O. MERGER

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 — A New York Central railroad official today opposed any alliance between his road and Chesapeake and Ohio because, he said, the real objective of such affiliation is ultimate merger.

And that being the case, Jesse P. Patterson told the interstate commerce commission, the proposed affiliation would be certain to "stir up new competition" against Central among its connecting lines.

Patterson is New York Central's general freight traffic manager. He and Willard F. Place, Central vice president in charge of finance, testified yesterday that a closer relationship with the C. and O. would not benefit their road.

Patterson and place were subpenaed at the request of the Virginian railway, which is opposing the proposed affiliation. They were cross-examined by C. and O. Attorney Robert W. Purcell. Patterson said the Central's connection carriers would remain "neutral" as long as the status quo continues but that "a new affiliation would stir up new competition."

Purcell tried half a dozen times to get Patterson's opinion as to whether affiliation with any road would be detrimental to Central, of whether he objected solely to affiliation with the C. and O. The question was ruled out, however, as not being pertinent to the proceedings.

The ICC hearings is on the application of Robert R. Young, C. and O. board chairman, and Robert J. Bowman, C. and O. president, to sit on Central's board and still retain their offices in the other line. They were invited to become Central directors after the C. and O. acquired a large block of Central stock.

Dead Pilots Identified After Ohio Air Crash

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19 — Two Lockbourne Army Airbase fliers killed in a crash near Lancaster were identified today as Major Andrew D. Turner, 27, of Washington, D. C., an overseas veteran, and First Lt. Milton T. Hall, 27, of Owensboro, Ky.

Their AT-6 planes collided in flight yesterday, plunging to earth before either pilot could use a parachute.

Harry Lutz, operator of the Sandy Hill fruit farm, said the planes were following each other when one suddenly swerved and sheered off the wing of the other.

The damaged ship struck on the Abe Courtright farm. The other crashed on the Mary Weiser farm nearly a mile away.

Lioness Club Members Meet at Ringer's Inn

Twenty-eight members of the Lioness club met Tuesday evening at Ringer's inn for their business and bridge meeting.

During the business session, a new constitution was read. Plans were made to resume the Sunday afternoon play hour supervision at the Children's home which was discontinued during the summer months.

Bridge honors went to Mrs. George Pfleiderer. Mrs. Harry Seiter, Mrs. Paul Fry and Mrs. Perry Cooper.

BOND FORFEITED

Bennie Brown Jr., 19, of Detroit forfeited a $25 bond when he failed to appear in municipal court today. He was arrested by city police at 9:55 p. m. yesterday on Silver street and charged with driving without an opertaor's license.

JACK MacDONALD

Student To Preach At Revival Tonight

Jack MacDonald, one of a team of three students from Wheaton college, Wheaton, Ill., holding special evangelistic meetings at Emmanuel Baptist church, will preach tonight at the family night service. He will speak again at the closing service Sunday night. His message tonight will be "A Horrible Fact," while the sermon Sunday night will be on "The Significance of the Transfiguration." Tonight, a picture for the home will be presented to the largest family in attendance.

Last night, Don Crider, another member of the evangelistic team, preached at the father's night service on "A Wise Father." A gift was presented O. A. Wheaton, oldest father present, and on Tuesday night, when a gift was presented the oldest mother attending, Mrs. H. E. Robinson was honored. On Wednesday night, the largest Sunday school class attending, taught by Mrs. James Blankenship, received recognition. Sunday morning, Mr. Crider will preach on "I'll Never Forget It." The other member of the team, Glenn Franke, is pianist for the services.

Columbus Man Speaks At Insurance Meeting

The fall and winter season of the Marion Association of Life Underwriters was opened by the members Thursday with a luncheon and program meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Orville J. Tobin, new president of the association, was in charge.

Speaker for the meeting was C. Harry Emanuelson, general agent for Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Columbus. His subject was "The Human Side of Programming." Membership in the association now totals 64, and a large attendance was present for the first meeting of the year yesterday.

Two from Marion Enlist in Navy

Two more Marion residents have enlisted in the U. S. Navy, each for a three-year hitch, and have been sent to Great Lakes training station, Chief Carl T. Prusnek, local recruiter announced.

The new recruits are Milton Benjamin Phelps of the Sawyer road and Donald Nyle Bowman of 605 East Farming street.

The Marion Navy recruiting officer is stationed in the sheriff's office at the courthouse from 8:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. daily.

A WEDDING of early winter will be that of Miss Sally Dee, whose engagement to Robert B. Fair of Kenton is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Dee of 609 South Main street, Bellefontaine, former residents of Marion. Saturday, Dec. 6, has been set for the ceremony. The bride-elect was graduated from St Mary Parochial High school here and Stephens college at Columbia, Mo. Her fiance, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd W. Fair of Kenton, attended the University of Pennsylvania where he is affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He served as an officer with the Army Air Forces for three years and is associated with his father in the Boyd W. Fair and Son firm, Insurance advisors, at Kenton.

Miss Gloria Rieser and Miss Patricia Harruff entertained with a party recently at the latter's home at 386 Brightwood drive honoring two local residents. Mrs. Thomas Finch was complimented with a personal shower, and a miscellaneous shower was held for Mrs. Charles Behm, who before her recent marriage was Miss Lois Kull. The evening was spent socially with contest awards going to Miss Joan Rosenberger and Mrs. Clair Rieser. Refreshments were served in keeping with the themes of the occasion.

Present with the honored guests and hosters were Mrs. Dallas Harruff, Mrs. Nelson Craven, Mrs Carl Kull, Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Rieser, Miss Rosenberger, Miss Mary Lou Retterer and Miss Judy Harruff.

First meeting of the season for Beta Sigma Phi sorority was held Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Betty Smith on Clover avenue. Plans were made for a "model" meeting Oct. 7, and for a tea Oct. 19. A partial election was held to fill offices vacated by members who resigned because of leaving the city.

Members of the Monday Night Bridge club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ann Sedelmaier on South State street, with Mrs. Ross Shoup serving as hostess. Honors in cards were won by Mrs. George Barks and Mrs. Don Harraman. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Harraman on East Church street.

The first meeting of the new club year was held by the Arts-and-Crafts club of Waldo Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs Leo Groll in Waldo. Mrs. Charles Groll served as assistant hostess. Eight members responded to roll call by giving "my first school and teacher," and Mrs. Charles Groll conducted devotions by reading the 33rd Psalm. This was followed by the Lord's Prayer by the group.

The program consisted of several accordion selections by Miss Margaret Howald, and a review of the book, "Mrs. Mike," by Mrs. Allen Roberts. Guests were Mrs H. L. Swick, Mrs. Marjorie George, Miss Janelle Walker and Miss Opal Donithen. The next meeting will be Oct. 15 with Mrs Charles MacKenzie in Waldo.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brown of 1021 West Center street are announcing the recent marriage of their daughter, Lucille, to Sherman Morrison of Marion.

The afternoon ceremony was read Sept. 6 by Rev. W. M. Briggs of Bucyrus in the home of the bride's parents. For her wedding, Miss Brown chose a street length dress of white organdy and wore a corsage fashioned of pink rosebuds. Miss Hallie Brown, sister of the bride, and Foster Cochran, a friend of the bridegroom, were the attendants. For the present the newlyweds will make their home with the bride's parents.

Mrs. Millie Baker of 436 Olney avenue entertained the Thick and Thin club Wednesday evening. Euchre was played with honor awards going to Mrs. Eileen Herrigel, first; Mrs. Bess May, second; Mrs Florence Everly, third and galloping, and Mrs. Margaret Cahill, consolation. Lunch was served by the hostess with the assistance of Mrs. Beulah Almendinger.

Guests included Mrs. Almendinger, Mrs. Margaret Welty, Mrs Rosemary Lawson and Mrs. Evelyn Campbell. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Herrigel of 381 Monroe avenue.

Mrs. Paul Sager of LaRue entertained with a dessert bridge Saturday, Sept. 13, at her home in honor of Mrs. Paul Capell, also of LaRue. Prizes in cards were won by Mrs. Capell and Mrs. James Thumn. Others present were Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs H. E. McMahan, Mrs. Ben Sager, Mrs. K. B. Ridgway, all of LaRue, Miss Jeanne Baker of Dayton and Ada, and Miss Marion Fridell of Findlay.

Rev. P. E Smoke of Bexley and Mrs. Alberta Kelley shared honors when Mr and Mrs. Albert Corwin of 348 South Prospect street entertained Tuesday with a six o'clock dinner honoring the birthdays of the two celebrants.

Rev. Smoke was a former pastor of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church here. Mrs Kelley is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Corwin.

Marion Couple Exchange Vows In New Jersey

ANNOUNCEMENT is being made of the marriage Saturday afternoon, Sept 6, of Miss Nancy Jeanne McKerlie-Dodds, teacher of week-day religious education in the Marion public schools, and Ivan L Willauer of Marion. The ceremony was read in First Presbyterian church at North Plainfield, N. J., by Rev. Horace L. Fenton, pastor. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James McKerlie-Dodds of North Plainfield. The late Mr. and Mrs. John P. Willauer of Marion were parents of the bridegroom. Mr. McKerlie-Dodds gave his daughter in marriage.

For her wedding, the bride chose a street length gown of ice blue satin. In her hair she wore a tiara of white roses, and she carried white roses on a white Bible. Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Mimi McKerlie-Dodds, who wore a dress of blue crepe and carried an old fashioned flower bouquet. Mrs. McKerlie-Dodds wore brown satin with which she combined brown accessories Robert Hobby of Gardener, Mass, served as best man.

A reception for the immediate families was held following the ceremony at the Garden tearoom. For a trip through New York state and Canada, Mrs. Willauer wore a gabardine suit in a light green shade, and brown accessories.

A graduate of Wheaton college, Wheaton, Ill., she came to Marion as teacher of week-day religious education last fall. Her husband, a graduate of Harding High school here and of Office Training school in Columbus, served 52 months in the medical corps of the army, with duty both in this country and overseas. He is employed at the Universal Cooler Corp They are making their home at an Orchard street address.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruhl of Richwood are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Rosella, to Max Parish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parish of Richwood.

The double ring ceremony was read at 9 o'clock last Sunday by Rev. Charles Cramer in McKendree Methodist church at York Center.

For her wedding Miss Ruhl wore a light blue gabardine suit with black accessories and her corsage was of red roses. Mrs. John Borland, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She chose a navy suit with wine accessories and wore a corsage of mixed flowers. Olin Parish, brother of the groom was the best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip. The new Mrs. Parish was graduated from York Center High school and is employed as bookkeeper at the Farm Bureau at Marysville. Mr. Parish is a graduate of Richwood High school and is engaged in farming. Upon their return they will live on a farm near Essex.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Miller of 426 Mary street are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, to H. T Little Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Little of 627 North Main street.

The ceremony will be read at Epworth Methodist church Sunday, Oct. 5 at 3:30 o'clock with Dr. V. E. Busler officiating. The custom of open church will be observed.

MRS. D. J. MACDONALD JR.

Marion Couple Give Vows In St. Mary Church

NUPTIAL high mass in St. Mary Catholic church Saturday morning solemnized the marriage of Miss Patricia Diane Cheney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Cheney of 313 North State street and Daniel J. MacDonald Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. MacDonald of 176 Chicago avenue. Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., pastor, read the ceremony and was the celebrant of the mass at 9:30 o'clock.

St. Mary choir, with Miss Claudine Scranton at the organ sang the Mass of the Angels and Miss Margaret MacDonald, sister of the bridegroom sang "Panis Angelicus," Franck. The gold altar vases held bouquets of white gladioli and at either side of the chancel entrance was a tall basket filled with white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and preceding her down the aisle were her attendants, Miss Josephine Fazio, who was the maid of honor and Miss Jacqueline Price and Miss Marilyn Denzer, bridesmaids.

A gown of white slipper satin was worn by the bride. The fitted bodice was made with a sweetheart neckline and leg o' mutton sleeves. The skirt, which extended into a full court train was edged with lace. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a white satin bonnet edged with lace and trimmed with pearlized orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet held white roses and stephanotic.

The attendants' gowns were moire. Miss Fazio and Miss Price wore aqua and Miss Denzer's gown was in a fuchsia shade. Their bouquets held Better Times roses and daisy yellow chrysanthemums.

William O'Neil served as best man for Mr. MacDonald and ushers were Robert E. Sullivan, Kent Daum a roommate of the bridegroom at college, and his brother, James MacDonald.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cheney chose a costume of black crepe and moire with which she wore an ostrich trim hat and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. MacDonald wore an aqua crepe dress with black accessories. Her flowers were Talisman roses.

Following the mass the bride's parents were hosts at a breakfast for the families and out-of-town guests at the Marion Country club and later there was a reception. For the breakfast the table held an arrangement of white gladioli and baby mums.

The receiving line was in front of the fireplace which was banked with palms and bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Assisting at the reception were Miss Margaret MacDonald, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Delores Seckel, Miss Constance Jackson, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Raymond Furniss, Mrs. Robert Criswell, Mrs. Ray Denzer, Mrs. H. F. Jackson, aunts of the bride, Miss Helen Sneckenberger, Mrs. W. A. Dennis, Mrs. B. H. Buettin, Mrs. Leo Groll and Mrs. C. W. Smoot.

When the couple left on a wedding trip in northern Ohio the bride was wearing a gabardine suit in a hunter's green shade, with brown accessories. Her corsage was a purple orchid.

The couple will make their home in Cincinnati where the bridegroom is enrolled in St Francis Xavier college. He served two years in the U. S. Navy most of which was in the Pacific theater.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Jackson and Miss Constance Jackson of Mt. Kisco, N. Y.; Mrs. Anna Shute of Roanoke, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Solida of New Castle, Ind.; Frank Staszecki of Bloomington, Ill.; Miss Carol Bauder of Syracuse, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Criswell of Mt. Gilead; Jack Wurtzel and Miss Catherine Fredericks of Fremont; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Denzer and daughters, Marilyn and Carol Sue of Waldo; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Midlam of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gray of Marysville; Miss Dee Henry of Athens.

The rehearsal party was held Thursday night at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's gifts to her attendants were gold compacts and Mr. MacDonald presented his best man with a billfold and the ushers with key chains.

The largest and oldest national park in the United States is the Yellowstone, in Wyoming; the newest is Big Bend, in southwestern Texas.

JEWISH ATONEMENT SERVICES ARRANGED

Tuesday and Wednesday To Mark Close of Observance.

Services concluding the 10-day period of the Jewish new year observance will be held Tuesday night and Wednesday at the Marion Congregation of Israel edifice on East Center street. The Day of Atonement will be marked by a service at 8 o'clock Tuesday, and at 10 a. m. Wednesday. There will be a service also Wednesday afternoon. George Kleinmaier of Dayton will conduct the services, and a choir will sing under direction of Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh.

Information concerning the observance, prepared by the Commission on Information About Judaism of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Central Conference of American Rabbis, concerning its significance include the following:

"The great Day of Atonement of the Jewish religion falls on Tuesday evening at sundown, Sept. 23, and continues until sundown, Wednesday. For the Jews throughout the world it is a day of fasting and prayer to stress the value of directing our daily conduct into finer and more spiritual channels. It is the conclusion of the ten Penitential days during which people may find forgiveness for their sins of omission and commission. The first step in this process of winning God's forgiveness, however, is to make peace with one's fellow men for any dereliction of conduct of which one may be guilty.

"The afternoon of the Day of Atonement consists of an impressive memorial service during which the names of the departed during the past year are recalled. The entire congregation then joins in the memorial prayer to show its spiritual fellowship with all of Israel.

"The afternoon scriptural reading is particularly noteworthy. It consists of the book of Jonah, the prophet who only became great when he learned that God's forgiveness extends even to people in far off Nineveh who had never heard of God but were still ready both to repent and to amend their ways when their sins were pointed out to them."

HANDLES 5,000TH CASE

By The Associated Press

HAMILTON, O., Sept. 19—Dr. Edward Cook has reached another milestone in his 25-year career as Butler county coroner. "I handled my 5,000th case this week," he announced. Dr. Cook, who admits his age is "somewhere over 80." did not seek the coroner's office in two elections in recent years but each time his successor resigned a short time after taking office and county commissioners talked Dr. Cook into taking the job back.

Moles

Many people write to me, wanting to know what to do about moles, scientifically known as nevi.

My answer is that it is safe to ignore a mole as long as it ignores you. That is, if a mole does not call attention to itself by becoming red, tender or sore it may be disregarded. But if any of these things occur, a doctor should be consulted at once because there is always the possibility that moles may become malignant or cancerous.

Women are usually more concerned with moles which contain a dark pigment or coloring matter known as melanin because they are considered as more disfiguring. But uncolored moles are just as dangerous from the standpoint of becoming malignant as is the dark variety.

Irritation of any sort may cause rapid growth of any mole. It is during this period of rapid growth that the cells in the mole tend to transform themselves into outlaw cancer cells with a capacity for wild multiplication. The first signs of irritation of a mole consist of tenderness and redness. The irritation is frequently produced by the rubbing of clothing or injuries during shaving or cutting of the hair. If infection and rapid growth follow such irritation, malignancy is almost certain to occur, unless the mole is completely removed.

Such treatment as the use of the electric needle, the application of chemical substances, or the use of X-ray, is not considered adequate treatment, in such cases.

The exact treatment to be employed will, of course, depend upon a number of factors, such as the size and location of the mole, but, as a general rule, cutting out the mole is the safest course to pursue.

In fact, experts in this field are convinced that treatment of a mole which is showing signs of irritation, by anything less than complete surgical removal at one operation, is dangerous.

Once a cancer has developed from the nevus, immediate operation with thorough, deep and wide removal of the affected tissues is necessary. Sometimes X-ray treatments, in addition to the operation may be advisable. The nevus may be removed by using an electric cautery, which is a metal instrument in which heat is produced by an electric current. The lymph glands in the tissues near the mole may also have to be removed in order to produce a permanent cure.

Persons who have moles which are subject to irritation should have them examined by a skin specialist so that whatever treatment is necessary may be carried out.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. D.: What causes me to have a burning sensation of the mouth?

Answer: Burning of the tongue is usually due to infection. An examination of the mouth and nose should be made to determine just what disorder is present; then the proper treatment can be given.

Device To Eliminate Pilot Error Invented

DAYTON, O., Sept. 19—A new device to eliminate "pilot error" during thunderstorms and icing conditions in flight has been unveiled at nearby Wright field.

Officers credited Samuel Kramer, supervisor of weather and instrument courses at Patterson field, with inventing "another weapon to aid airmen in their continual struggle against weather."

The new instrument is a dial listing types of hazards associated with icing and thunderstorms and flight procedures under those conditions.

By proper turning of the dial, the best flight procedures for passing the hazards with a minimum of danger is shown, it was explained.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

TAFT ASKS SEARCH FOR NEW PRICE LINE

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19 — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) proposed today the nation act to level off prices and wages at a point 50 to 60 per cent above that of 1939.

In a politically-important address prepared for delivery here before the Commonwealth club, the Ohio senator asserted prices must come down and that high wages can be maintained only through increased productivity per man.

Accusing President Truman of following a policy of "planned inflation," Taft said that, nevertheless, "the fundamental reason for high prices is the tremendous income of the American people today due to full employment and high wages."

Arguing that "abnormal employment" resulting from the present hight rate of exports and accumulated domestic demand "will undoubtedly taper off," the chairman of the senate's Republican policy committee said the country had better act to keep this change of pace gradual.

"I believe we may as well recognize that prices are permanently up above prewar prices," he said. "Since both wages and prices have risen—wages on the whole more than prices—we had better work toward a stabilization of wages and prices at some new level, perhaps 50 or 60 per cent over 1939.

LaGuardia's Condition Reported "Unchanged"

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 — Fiorello H. LaGuardia, 64, gravely ill of a pancreas condition at his home, faces "no immediate change for better or for worse," his physician said today.

Dr. George Baehr said in a bulletin that the former mayor and director general of UNRRA "remained in a deep sleep" throughout the night, adding "there has been no material change in his pulse, temperature or respiration.

Hudson To Produce New Car "You Step Down Into, Not Up"

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Sept. 19—Final assembly lines at the Hudson Motor Car Co. were closing down today to make way for a new-type model which, the company announced, "you step down into, not up on."

Hudson President A. E. Barit last night described a few details of the new car which he said was "entirely different from any automobile ever mass-produced."

It will have a lower center of gravity than any other American automobile, Barit stated, and, although only five feet from the ground to its top, will provide "more head room" than current models and "the roomiest" seats. The seat is completely ahead of the rear wheel, he added.

Barit declared the new cars might be in production in "a few weeks," but declined to say just how long Hudson plants would be down. The changeover was costing Hudson $16,000,000, according to the president, since factory and facility rearrangements are the most extensive undertaken by the company in its 38-year history.

GENERAL CALLS FOR WELL-TRAINED GUARD

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19—The National Guard must have more than "lip-service and good wishes" to carry out its mission of being prepared to take the field at all times, Lt. Gen. Raymond E. McLain of the war department special staff asserted today.

"It is obvious the National Guard can not fulfill its training mission under a system which provides less than 200 hours a year of armory and summer-camp training," McLain said in an address prepared for the National Guard association's 69th annual conference here.

"Given recruits who have had 1,000 hours of basic training, it can proceed with refresher training and higher team training, and can be expected to reach a decree of training efficiency which will enable it to perform its assigned D-day mission.

"Universal military training will provide the guard with this basically trained manpower," the general stated.

He criticized "those who decry the need for training mass armies."

Sen. John W. Bricker drew cheers last night by declaring that the United States should not part "with an iota" of data about the atom bomb so long as expansionist forces are "on the loose" in the world.

Ohio's junior senator asserted, however, that the United States never would use the atom bomb aggressively.

PLAN NEW PROJECTS AT CLUB MEETING

Business, Professional Women Meet at Miley Home.

Undertaking of several new projects was voted Wednesday night at a business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at the home of the president, Miss Mary K. Miley of South Seffner avenue.

It was decided to purchase needed equipment for the pediatrics department of City hospital from time to time, and to act as sponsoring agent here for the Jackie Krumholtz Foundation for Lukemia Research. The club will accept contributions for the foundation, and voted to give to the foundation proceeds of one concert of the Collins Entertainment series which the club will sponsor here in October and November. It was voted to list officially the Business and Professional Women as helping back the Employ the Handicapped week here. Members folded for mailing, following the business session, several hundred sheets of Christmas seals for the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health association of which Mrs. W. E. Miley, mother of the hostess, is secretary.

Announcement was made that several officers and committee chairmen of the local club will attend sessions of a state B. and P. W. club meeting in Columbus Saturday and Sunday. Miss Miley was presented a gold B. and P. W. emblem pin with tiny gold gavel attached, by Miss LaVern Lash in behalf of the club. Mrs. Ann Sedelmaier and Miss Esther Mautz were welcomed as new members. Miss Lash, Miss Mary Ann Bausinger and Miss Betty Leib assisted the hostess in serving.

RAIL UNIONS TO ASK 30 PER CENT RAISE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19—The nations railroads will be asked for 30 per cent wage increases for more than 350,000 of their workers at the end of this month.

That decision was reached yesterday in a special meeting of representatives of the five operating brotherhoods, affecting trainmen, engineers, firemen, conductors and switchmen.

The brotherhoods as of Sept. 30 will ask that the boosts be effective Nov. 1, an announcement said, and one spokesman declared the leaders had been subjected to "high pressure" from the rank and file due to increased living costs.

Trainmen and engineers, he said, feel they are worse off now than when they received an 18½ cents hourly increase after the 48-hour strike last year.

The move is to be handled separately from discussions on rule changes slated for Chicago next month.

Railroad spokesmen have estimated the rules changes alone would boost operating costs a billion dollars a year. A union representative said A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, had described this estimate as "ridiculous."

The 17-non-operating unions, representing about 1,000,000 maintenance men and others not directly involved in train operations, were awarded a boost of 15½ cents an hour Sept. 2.

The voice of the tortoise is not well developed; the females usually are able only to hiss.

continued in the UN assembly with a number of smaller nation delegates on today's schedule.

Covers Wide Range

The Russian leader directed his unprecedented blunderbuss attack against the whole range of American foreign policy, including the Truman doctrine, the Marshall economic recovery plan and continued atomic bomb production, took a quick crack at President Truman and specifically accused nine prominent Americans, including John Foster Dulles of Marshall's delegation here, of being "warmongers" trying to start a war on Russia.

The reference to Mr. Truman came when Vishinsky said the President's recent speech at the inter-American defense conference in Brazil emphasized American plans to maintain strong military forces without mentioning American "obligations" under the United Nations to seek disarmament.

The nine Americans named by Vishinsky as examples of "warmongers" seeking to start a war on Russia were Dulles, who was sitting in the audience before Vishinsky; Rep. Dorn (D-SC); Virgil Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference board; former Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, who once served as U. S. minister in Hungary and Bulgaria; Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) of the house foreign affairs committee; Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn), former chairman of the congressional committee on atomic energy; Senator Brooks (R-Ill); Major General John R. Deane, wartime head of the U. S. military mission in Moscow; and Paisley B. Harwood, vice president of Cutler-Hammer, Inc., Milwaukee manufacturing firm.

"Want War with Russ"

Vishinsky accused each of these making statements or writing ideas which, he contended, proved his point that they wanted war with Russia. They and others he said were seeking war both because they want American domination of the world and because they want war to offset a feared economic collapse in this country.

"The rush for profits on the part of the capitalist monopolies," the Russian speaker said, "their endeavor to maintain by all means and to develop further these branches of industry that yield large profits cannot but influence the foreign policy, strengthening its militaristic, expansionist and aggressive tendencies to satisfy the ever increasing appetite of the influential monopolistic circles."

He continued with the charge that the "propagandists" he was attacking "are not only prominent representatives of the American influential industrial and military circles, influential organs of press and prominent politicians but officials representatives of the American government as well."

"It is by no means accidental," he said, "that the particularly violent warmongers among them are those who are closely connected with commercial, industrial and financial trusts, concerns and monopolies."

List Is Partial

He said there was "no need to name too many" of them, then went on with his selected list of nine.

Dulles, who was sitting with General Marshall when his name came up, immediately began writing a statement which he issued with the evident approval of Marshall. Vishinsky had accused him of saying war with Russia was inevitable under certain conditions and of publicly urging a "tough foreign policy toward the Soviet Union."

In reply Dulles said he had not made the statement, but has repeatedly declared another war "need not be and must not be," and proceed constructively, creating.

"I am confident," he added significantly, "that the assembly will quickly forget the violent personal attacks made by Mr. Vishinsky tively and I hope harmoniously to deal with with its important business."

This line of American delegation reaction, which was reflected in private comments of other spokesmen, seemed likely to run into only one difficulty. At the end of his speech Vishinsky proposed a resolution asking the general assembly in effect to condemn his alleged American "warmongers" and call on the governments of the United States, Greece and Turkey particularly to suppress such goings-on.

If he insists on pressing this resolution to a point of debate the United States might be compelled to make some response to the extent of arguing for defeat of the proposal.

RUSSIAN PAPERS PLAY UP VISHINSKY'S BLAST

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 — Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's speech to the United Nations assembly—probably the strongest words ever used by a Russian diplomat against the present policy of the United States—was presented to the Soviet public today in full-page spreads in all the principal newspapers. The press made no immediate editorial comment.

ASK '41 RENT LEVEL

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Sept. 19—The CIO United Rubber Workers convention today called for a cut-back in rents to the 1941 level but delayed for the "complete preparation" of its 600 delegates its policy-making on the Taft-Hartley law, termed in one proposed resolution as "an atom bomb against labor."

Democrat Chiefs Of Ohio Convene For 1948 Parley

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19 — Ohio's Democratic state central committeemen and county chairmen convene here today but Albert A. Horstman of Dayton, state chairman, asserted that "as far as I am concerned, there won't be any discussion of candidates."

Others apparently expected the meeting to develop into a powwow over the possible candidacy of former Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland for nomination to a second term.

Lausche never has been popular with the Ohio Democratic organization because of his independence, but Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown predicted recently that differences might be patched up at the meeting.

Kirwan, once an outspoken critic of Lausche, indicated that the organization might unite behind Lausche on the theory that he appeared to have the best chance in a race against Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, who defeated Lausche in 1946.

Lausche has remained silent on the question of his candidacy.

THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF OHIO HAS ORDERED

NO MORE GAS HEATING
MAY BE CONNECTED TO OUR LINES

(Existing House Heating Installations are NOT affected by this Order)

Likely you have read or heard of the gas industry's inability to secure enough steel and other materials needed for moving adequately increased quantities of gas to the markets this winter. Growing demands for gas heating are making this situation critical. As a result of this condition, the Public Utilities Commission called a hearing of all gas utilities in the State on September 13. This hearing was to determine the regulatory steps which would be necessary to protect present users of gas heating and all customers who use gas for other common household purposes. On September 15 the Commission issued an order completely restricting the use of additional gas for space heating and the order became effective September 16, 1947.

We are not publishing the order because of its length, but are interpreting the rules that pertain to our customers as follows:

ADDITIONAL GAS HEATING RESTRICTED

On or after September 16 we may not supply gas to any customer for space heating equipment replacing equipment using other fuels or for additional space heating requirements. The only exceptions are:

(a) Gas-fired space heating equipment which was registered with us and approval granted for installation of such equipment prior to September 16, 1947.

(b) In cases of new construction, if binding contracts or agreements have been made between builder and owner or builder and sub-contractors prior to September 16. Such contractors have through September 25 to file applications with us. These applications must be accompanied with copies of the contracts or statements of agreement, and affidavits that the contracts or agreements were executed before September 16. Affidavits need not be submitted on approvals granted prior to this date. All new structures for which approval to use gas heating has or will be granted, must have foundations completed or other substantial evidence of continued construction by December 16, 1947, or approval to heat with gas must be withdrawn.

GAS HEATING REPLACEMENTS PERMITTED

Present users of gas heating equipment may replace it with new equipment through a dealer, heating contractor or the utility, providing the new equipment does not exceed the gas consumption of the equipment replaced. If the dealer or heating contractor is satisfied that these conditions are met, he need not secure approval from us.

GAS HEATING VIOLATIONS

When gas heating equipment in violation of these rules is detected connected to our lines, we must notify the customer in writing that such equipment must be disconnected within 10 days of the date of the notice. If the customer does not comply, we are required to discontinue gas service to the customer's meter. If the customer does comply, we are required to take such measures as may be practicable and necessary to restrict the flow of gas to quantities required for other than space heating purposes.

INDUSTRIAL CURTAILMENT

In cold weather during periods of peak demand we are required to curtail gas to industries when the gas is needed to maintain service to domestic customers. Service to industrial customers is to be resumed as soon as such emergencies are past. (Most of our large industrial customers have installed facilities for standby fuel in such emergencies.)

The order continues until April 1, 1948. At that time the Commission will determine if the conditions of gas supply have improved sufficiently to raise or ease the restrictions on gas heating. Most Utilities Commissions in other states of the Mid-West or the Appalachian Area have taken or are taking similar measures. Cooperation between government regulatory bodies, the utilities and the customers has been splendid in helping solve this matter. With continued cooperation and patience, the problem can be solved in the future.

RESTRICTIONS DO NOT APPLY TO GAS FOR COOKING, ETC.

The Commission's Order on gas for space heating in no way affects the use of gas for cooking, water heating, refrigeration and other common household uses except space heaters. Appliances for these purposes do not add appreciably to the demands for gas on peak days

Year '47 Bringing Rich Harvest In Dollars To Farmers of Ohio

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 19—The year 1947 is bringing Ohio farmers a rich harvest in dollars.

Reflecting a trend throughout the country, cash receipts from marketings totaled $416,376,000 in Ohio during the first six months of the year, an increase of $104,194,000 over the total in corresponding months in 1946.

A report from the agriculture department says the 1947 receipts include $339,261,000 for livestock and products and $77,115,000 for crops. These figures for the 1946 period were $245,100,000 and $67,082,000 respectively.

Receipts in the country as a whole during the first six months of this year totaled $11,875,206,000 against $8,802,274,000 in the 1946 period.

For purposes of the department's survey, Ohio is in the east north central group of states embracing also Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Their combined receipts during the first half of 1947 amounted to $2,447,202,000 against $1,783,098,000 in the first half of 1946.

The department said that gains in receipts from meat animals in all states accounted for most of the increase from livestock and products. Increased receipts from corn in Ohio and Illinois were responsible for most of the sectional gain in total crop receipts.

High prices for beef cattle and wholesale milk resulted in substantial gains for these products in all states.

Bishop Tipped for Post

Bishop Michael Joseph Ready of Columbus is being mentioned as the first Catholic Archbishop of Washington. An official of the National Catholic Welfare conference, of which Bishop Ready formerly was general secretary, said "his name certainly has been mentioned."

But there is nothing official on it. The appointment will be made by the Pope and announced at the Vatican.

Bishop Ready, who was born in New Haven, Conn., was educated at St. Vincent's college, Latrobe, Pa., St. Bernard's college seminary, Rochester, N. Y., and St. Mary's seminary, Cleveland. He was made a domestic prelate in 1937 by Pius XI.

Burton Returns

Justice Harold Burton is back from his long-planned sentimental journey to Switzerland. Accompanied by Mrs. Burton, he found in Schmelzboden the house where he lived as a boy, where his grandfather, John Hitz, was born, and where his mother died.

The Burtons set out with little more than a yellowed diary to guide them. With an official of the Swiss Automobile club as their driver, they motored through many Swiss villages before they located the old house in Schmelzboden.

From a picture which Burton's grandfather had preserved, the justice and his wife were able to recognize what remains of the ancestral home.

John Hitz was born in the house 120 years ago. Three generations of the Hitz family came to the United States at the same time. Justice Burton's great-grandfather, also named John Hitz, was the first Swiss consul in Washington. Upon his death, he was succeeded by his son, John Jr.

Other members of the family are believed to have settled in West Virginia.

A stone in the little Swiss town of Leysin bears the name of Burton's mother.

In Guatemala, each community has its own distinctive dress and color.

BIKINI PUP 'NOT A 'HOT DOG.' Radiological safety officer aboard the resurvey laboratory ship U.S.S. Chilton, Lt. Carl E. Grant of Buffalo, N. Y., checks a dog found on Bikini Atoll for radioactivity with a Geiger counter. Holding the animal in San Diego is Dr. J. P. Morrison of the Smithsonian Institute. The dog was picked up one year after the Baker Day A-bomb test and was found free of radioactive elements. An intensive survey disclosed that the atoll is now safe for human habitation.

OFFICER DENIES HE ORDERED GI BEATEN

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 19—Lt. Comdr. Edward N. Little, who denied that he ordered Lt. (JG) Richard F. Gascoigne of Lorain, O., to beat an Army enlisted man in a Japanese prison camp, resumes his testimony today at the court martial of Gascoigne who is charged with mistreating fellow Americans at the camp.

Little, Gascoigne's immediate superior at the camp in Japan, was acquitted recently of similar charges following a 98-day trial in Washington, D. C. Little now is on duty at Portsmouth, Va.

He told the court that the fight between Gascoigne and Russell E. Beasley, Army enlisted man from Casey, Ill., resulted when Gascoigne accused Beasley of stealing his shoes.

When it became obvious that Gascoigne and Beasley were to fight in the camp mess hall, Little said, he ordered them to leave and seek a less conspicuous place for their fisticuffs.

"They were back within 10 minutes," Little said, "and I did not see any marks of the fight on Beasley."

CHILD BURNS TO DEATH

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Sept. 19—Fire which destroyed a small home in South Dayton yesterday claimed the life of two-year-old Larry Trydle but the father, Floyd Trydle, rescued another child, Floyd Jr., 3, who suffered third degree burns. Coroner A. P. McDonald said the children started the blaze by playing with matches.

They're late, poor devils, with the latter. Not that it makes much difference, because the index is going to be up. Way up. A federal statistician needs no machinery to tell him that; the laments of his wife keep him fully informed.

The harried clerks try not to let their personal budget troubles be reflected in their reports. They issue the facts, with no comment. Let's take a look at their figures.

For the last 10 weeks, the unhappy experts announced, the cost of practically everything has been going up with a pause, or even a slight relapse. As of now the general commodity price index is exactly seven per cent below the all-time peak of May, 1920, when the shipyard workers were wearing out the last of their World War I silk shirts. In June of 1920, prices were on the skideroo.

Can Always Hope

The bureau of labor statistics draws no conclusions from this fact; doesn't even mention it. But the bureau's hard-pressed men can hope, can't they? If they keep quiet about it?

They said, in any event, that today it costs 41 per cent more to eat than it did only a year ago; 31 per cent more to wear shoes; 55 per cent more to build a house; 29 per cent more to keep it warm and 19 per cent more to stay out of a nudist camp.

The figures, as compared with 1926—which the bureau chose as a good, normal year—are horrifying. I won't even mention 'em, because why should I give you the willies, too?

That takes care of the weekly figures. The daily report, which brings some of the data practically up to this moment, is more cheerful. Tomorrow may ruin the whole thing, but as of now the prices of barley, butter, cottonseed oil, hogs, rubber, beef steers, and wheat have dropped a few pennies. The bureau of labor statistics has got its fingers crossed. Unofficially, that is. No comment, otherwise.

COMMANDERY MEETS

A regular meeting of Commandery No. 36, Knights Templar, was held Thursday night in the Masonic temple. Plans were made to confer the Order of Red Cross on Sept. 25, Order of Malta on Oct. 2 and Order of Temple on Oct. 9. Approximately 40 knights from Marion Commandery announced plans to attend the annual conclave of Grand Commandery to be held in Cincinnati Oct. 5, 6 and 7. Headquarters for the Marion group will be the Hotel Gibson. Marion members will also participate in the parade to be held Oct. 6 there.

GUARD QUOTA SET

KENTON, Sept. 19—The goal of Company "E," Hardin county unit of the Ohio National Guard, was set at 100 new members in the next 60 days. It will be the local company's contribution to the nationwide drive to obtain 88,888 new enlistments in the next two months.

LEGION ELECTS OFFICERS

ASHLEY — Clyde C. Keltner Post of the American Legion at Ashley met Tuesday night. Announcement was made that 781 was netted from the recent corn show. T. F. Myers, president of Ashley Community club asked the post to assist with games at the fall festival to be held at the school building Oct. 31. The following officers were elected: Edwin Mouser, commander; Frank Jackson Jr., first vice commander; Robert Haubiel, second vice commander; Robert Tilton, adjutant; Don Rodgers, finance officer; Rev. H. L. Borden, chaplain; Thorval Mattax, sergeant-at-arms; Bryan Richmond and Vincent Westbrook, members of the executive committee; Frank Jackson Jr., service officer for the year. Installation will be held at the next regular meeting Oct. 7.

Missionary on Program Here For Christ for World Service

Plans are going forward for the Christ for the World convention to be held the weekend of Sept. 26 and 27 in Trinity Baptist church. Speaker for the opening session on Friday evening will be Miss Elizabeth Estes Turner, executive secretary in the Chicago office of the president of the Board of Foreign Missions. The meeting will be at 8 p. m. and is being sponsored by the Marion County Council of church women. Miss Turner's topic will be "The Keys of the Kingdom Are in Your Hands."

Miss Turner's years as a missionary have fitted her for the responsibility of her work and her experience in China have made her thoroughly familiar with the problems of missionary life.

She went to China in 1926 where she served as a city and country evangelist. She also was a teacher in the girls' high school of her "home" city of Hawiyuan, and during the war emergency acted as supervisor of the women's hospital in that city. Miss Turner is a native of West Virginia and a graduate of the West Virginia university and Moody Bible institute.

Mass meetings will be held at Garfield park pavilion Saturday night and on Sunday afternoon at which time R. G. LeTourneau, noted industrial leader in the manufacturing of earth-moving machinery, will be the speaker. The closing session will be a rally sponsored by the United Christian Youth organization Sunday night at Trinity church.

The meetings, originally scheduled to be held at Calvary Evangelical church, have been changed to Trinity Baptist church.

AIR-MINDED LIMA ST. ROSE BOMBARDS ST. MARY, 19-0

Visitor's Passing Attack Sinks Irish in First Home Struggle

Pounced by a relentless Lima St. Rose aerial attack, St Mary's Irish crawled out of their stadium gridiron foxholes last night at game's end to find themselves on the dreary side of a 19-0 score

The victors set up their first score with a 38-yard pass and scored the next two directly via the air lanes. It was the first game of the season for Lima and the second for St. Mary. An estimated 2,500 saw the Irish suffer their first defeat

The St. Rose offense was built around Tom Williams, six foot four end, who played on both sides of the line and carried on reverses

Lima first scored near the end of the opening canto after an exchange of punts. The drive was put in motion on the Luna 30. John Mulcahy passed to Williams who got to the local's 25. Another pass from Mulcahy from the 20 was snagged by Williams on the five and three plays later Mulcahy drove over from within a foot of the goal line stripe.

Intercepts Pass

In the second quarter Mulcahy intercepted Stuber's pass from the Marion 28 on the 47 to set up another score. Mulcahy then rifled one to O'Conner in the flats, who got to the 17. After being forced back to the 30 O'Connor passed to Mulcahy on the 24 and he cut to the center and went all the way.

After this score the complete St Mary second string was sent into the ball game and played for several minutes

Lima's final six-pointer came in the third quarter climaxing an aerial drive from their own 24, crowned by a pass from Lawler to Williams The same combination clicked for the point.

The first half of the game was marked by a great number of penalties called on both teams in the second the called infractions were not so plentiful.

Play Is Rough

Play was rough with more than six Lima men being taken out at various times with minor injuries. Only one, Bob Pearson, who suffered a shoulder injury, was unable to re-enter the game.

Dick Schuler's knee was reinjured in the last quarter and it may keep him out of some practice next week.

St. Mary's All-Mid-State league guard, Joe Maniaci, and St Rose's flashy lefthalf, John Mulcahy, were both sent to the bench by the referee after a verbal exchange in the second quarter.

St Mary takes on another tough customer next Friday night at Carey. Coach Gene Fetter has decreed a week of rugged workouts to rebuild from last night's defeat.

SCHLAIRET TRANSFER WINS CHAMPIONSHIP IN COMMERCIAL LOOP

Defeat Moose, 10-3; Will Meet Forest Lawn, Commercial Steel in Series.

Schlairet Transfer won the Commercial league softball title last night, defeating Moose Lodge 10-3, in a second play-off game.

The win made Schlairet eligible for the Little World Series, which starts next week, and rounds out the list of teams who will play in the tourney. Forest Lawn, representing the Sunday School league, and Commercial Steel, representing the Industrial league, are the other squads in the series.

Schlairet piled up the necessary margin last night with five runs in the opening stanza on two singles, two walks, an error and pair of stolen bases. Doc Reed scored the fifth run on a stolen base.

Lewis homered with one on to score two of Moose's runs and their only hit. The other score was made on a bad throw, a runner scoring from first.

MEL OTT WINDS UP 22 YEARS AS PLAYER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 — The 22-year major league playing career of Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants, came to an end today when Ott announced that he had removed his name from the club's active player roster

Ott released the news to sports writers as the train carrying the National leaguers eastward for their final home stand left Chicago. He said he took the step to make room for the addition of rookies who will be used in the lineup between now and the end of the season. The player limit including rookies is 10.

The 38-year-old Louisianan, who started in the big time with the Giants in 1926 holds the modern major league record for service with one club. His other marks read like an index page to the record book. He has been manager of the club since Dec. 2, 1941.

He holds the National league lifetime marks for most home runs, runs scored, runs batted in, total bases (5,041), bases on balls (1708), extra base hits (1,071), and extra bases on long hits (2165). For eight years he knocked out 30 or more home runs a season—another record.

Ott led the league in home runs in 1936, 1938 and 1942 and tied for the leadership in 1932, 1934 and 1937, was the league's leading outfielder in 1935 and had the most assists in the 1929 and 1942 seasons

Ott's last home run, No 511 in his career, came on his first trip to the plate last season

If he desires, Ott always can reinstate himself as an active player, but it appeared doubtful that he ever would

OUTSIDER WINS RACE AT DELAWARE TRACK

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 19—Grand Parade, a lightly-regarded bay colt stepped out to win the $6,250 "Old Oaken Bucket" three-year-old trot, companion race to the Delaware Grand Circuit's Little Brown Jug pace, coming through in straight heats yesterday.

Son of Nibble Hanover, Grand Parade turned the trick in 2 09 2-5 and 2 07! 3-5 under the guidance of Harry Fitzpatrick.

The odds-on favorite, Way Yonder, driven by Del Cameron for C. F Gaines of Sherborne, N. Y., placed third in each heat. Second was Lou Ros, black filly owned by E. A. Scherler of Lakewood and reined by John Caton

Poplar Volo won the $5,000 two-year-old pace. The bay colt from the Poplar Hill farm of Lexington, Ky., took the second and third heats after E J. Hal, may gelding from the Baker Acres stables, grabbed the first in 2 06 3-5. Poplar Volo's times were 2 09 2-5 and 2 15.

Direct Express won the $5,000 free for all pace in 2.02 2-5 and 2.04 for the final two heats after losing the first test to Millbrook, clocked at 2 03 2-5.

Snappy Kate, bay mare owned by Frank Funk and Sons of Washington C. H., annexed the 19 class trot for Ohio owned entrants in straight heats. Reny Law, from the Marion Parlay Acres farm, and Four Roses, owned by Joe Neville of Delaware, split second and third money in the $1,000 purse.

Weaver and Weidner Win Tag Team Match

Buck Weaver and Billy Weidner teamed up to spill Dutch Schultz and Frankie Clemons in the feature tag-team match at the Armory last night. They won the second and third falls

In warm-up bouts Weidner downed Schultz and Clemons stopped Weaver.

Wally Hale and Butch Patterson wrestled to a draw in the 10 minute preliminary.

Bell Tolls for Eddie Dyer As St. Louis Falls Apart

By The Associated Press

The complete collapse of the St. Louis Cardinals, presaging a general shakeup that may cost manager Eddie Dyer his job, has tongues wagging around the baseball map as the Brooklyn Dodgers ease into the World Series. Now the Brooks can do no worse than tie and the magic number combination has been reduced to one.

Losing six straight since they took the middle game of the decisive Dodger series, the defending world champions now are threatened with a third-place finish. They can be mathematically eliminated tonight if they lose to the Braves

Boston, closing strong with a third-place finish They can be mathematically eliminated tonight if they lose to the Braves

Boston closing strong with a clean sweep of the Sportsman's park series, clipped the Red Birds last night, 6-2, advancing to within a game and a half of second place

Moore Tipped for Job

The man who is most often mentioned in St Louis as a possible successor to Dyer, if owner Sam Breadon does not renew his contract, Terry Moore, will be given a "night" tonight

Warren Spahn did a job on the St. Louis gang last night, allowing nine hits, assuring Brooklyn of no worse than a tie. Even if the Dodgers lose all their remaining eight games and the Cards win all 11, it would be all even at the end.

Brooklyn idle today, blew a chance to apply the mathematical clincher when they bowed to Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon, 8-7. A Dodger win, combined with the Cards' loss, would have snuffed out the last hope.

Ralph Kiner belted home run No. 50 and Bruce Edwards, Jackie Robinson and Carl Furillo hit homers for the Dodgers who twice blew comfortable leads.

The New York Giants' record home run total hit 21 for the year on Bobby Thomson's two-run clout in the third inning of their 9-5 edge over Chicago.

Cincinnati, Cleveland Win

Cincinnati's Ed Erautt, a late starter, earned his fourth victory as the Reds clubbed Dutch Leonard for 15 hits in a 9-4 decision over the Phillies.

Frank (Spec) Shea hurled his first complete game since July 5 and threw a four-nitter against Chicago for a 3-1 victory.

Boston rallied from a six-run deficit to outslug St Louis, 10-6, with Sam Mele's five hits leading the parade

Rookie Bob Kuzava, up from Baltimore, hurled a five-hit shutout as Cleveland clubbed Washington, 4-0, advancing to within a half game of third-place Detroit in a night game.

McCurdy Car Entered In Tiffin Auto Races

Bill McGee will be at the wheel of Marion owner, Harold "Monk" McCurdy's racing car Sunday when the Tri-State Racing association holds its annual big car championship event at Tiffin fairgrounds.

McGee, a Columbus product, has been driving for McCurdy for the past two months and has done well on the state fair racing circuit through Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa.

He will be racing against a field of top flight drivers, among them Carl Scarborough, central state champion, and Wayne Wynn, southern state champion.

The program will start at noon with time trials, followed by three elimination races, and a four lap helmet dash. A consolation race will be held just prior to the championship event.

MEET IN TENNIS TOURNEY

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O, Sept. 19 — Tony Trabert, Ohio High school singles champion the last two years, and Charles Thomas, University of Cincinnati netter, meet today in the finals of the Queen City tennis tournament.

The average football player on the varsity squad at Notre Dame is a youngster of 20 years, standing 5 foot, 10½ inches tall and weighing 186 pounds.

GALION SEMI-PRO 11 LOOMS AS "TOUGHIE"

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept 19 — Indications are that Galion's semi-pro Bulldogs are the strongest pro eleven to represent the city in more than a decade. Coached by Robert Corry, former Galion High school mentor, the Bulldogs are sponsored by Cy Herr and Harold Newman.

The team will launch its football season here Sunday afternoon at Heise park against the strong Columbus Amvets

Mayor William Asman will toss the coin at the opening of the game, and the American Legion band, under the direction of F A. W. Liddell, will play. Children of the Crawford County Children's Home will be admitted to the game free.

With the exception of one, all games will be played in Galion as follows: Sept. 21, Columbus Amvets; Sept. 28, Toledo; Oct 5, Chardon; Oct 12, Monroe, Mich; Oct. 19, Willoughby Merchants, Oct. 26, Pittsburgh Corsairs.

An Oct 1 game with Bucyrus here has been tentatively set, as well as a game at Bucyrus Nov 16.

Angel-Dayton Merchants Football Game Postponed

Safety Cab Angels game with Dayton Merchants at Dayton Sunday has been postponed, Sid Tennant, Angel's pressy, reported today. It was postponed because the Merchants were unable to find a playing field, he said.

As a result of this postponement, the Angels will be inactive until a week from tomorrow when they entertain Mendon Red Jackets at the stadium.

Howison Expresses Optimism Over Prexy Drills This Week

Marion Harding will make a try tonight for their initial victory of the season meeting the Columbus South Bulldogs on home field Game time at 8 p m

Prexy Coach Pete Howison shows a shade of optimism over expected outcome of the game after his boys have spent a week drilling on defense what Howison considers the weak point of last Friday's game with Fostoria

Prexy backs have been hanging on to the pigskin all week too, after fumbles in the Fostoria tilt kept Harding on the short end of a 12-0 score

Columbus South's Bulldogs riding in the same victory-light coat, were edged 13-12 by Upper Arlington last Saturday

Neither the Prexies nor the Bulldogs won any games last year

The Prexies, with 12 lettermen on the squad, have the edge in experience as the Bulldogs saw but six old hands return

Colley Sets Up Playoff Dates And Officials

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Sept. 19 — Ohio [illegible] League President Frank M. [illegible] announced today that the [illegible] annual league playoffs will [illegible] Monday night in Zanesville [illegible] Marion.

Barring last minute changes [illegible] will furnish the opposition for Zanesville and Muncie will be at Marion, Colley said.

Games were scheduled for Zanesville and Marion Monday and Tuesday nights, and for Springfield and Muncie Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The teams will return to Zanesville and Marion for Saturday and Sunday if necessary. The series winner will have to take four out of seven games.

Colley said the second playoffs will start on the night following the end of the first playoffs in the city which finished highest in the league race.

Clay Bryant, manager of the championship Zanesville club, has been the winning manager in the last three seasons. In 1944, he led Newark to the title and piloted Zanesville to the pennant in 1945 and 1946. Each time, Bryant's clubs were in second place at the start of the series. However, his league-leading Dodgers this year will deprive him of any chance of leading another second-place team to victory.

Umpires Bill Monroe, Henry McGowan, Dutch Heinlen and Henry O'Grady were assigned to the Zanesville-Springfield series. Doc Staley, John Chambers and Horace Hart will handle the Marion-Muncie playoffs.

Trinity Rayl Class Holds Meeting at Church

The Rayl class of Trinity Baptist church held its monthly business and social meeting Tuesday night at the church. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Charles Ritzler, and for the program, a talk was given by Harold Seiter of Marion, who served with the U. S. Army in India during World War II. He also showed some moving pictures which he took while in that country. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seiter of South Prospect street, are members of the class.

An announcement was made that at each of the services Sunday morning, Sunday school and worship service, a presentation ceremony of plaques to the church in memory of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rayl, organizers of the class, will be held. All members of the class are urged to be present. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Forry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bibler, Mrs. Anna Messenger and Mrs. Fred Smith.

During World War I numbers of British troops were infected with anthrax carried on shaving brushes imported from Japan.

Ladies Guild Holds Election at Galion

GALION—Mrs. Forrest Shull was reelected president of the Ladies' Guild of First Lutheran church at the monthly meeting, Wednesday afternoon at the church. Others chosen to serve are: vice president, Mrs. Charles Jones; secretary, Mrs. Ben Cox; treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Ness.

A short program in charge of Mrs. Jones included songs, Mary Lou Stough, and readings, Mrs. J. K. Kunkel. The piano accompanist for Miss Stough was Bonnie Lou Staub. Hostesses who served refreshments were Mrs. H. E. Erickson, Mrs. Carl Erfurt, Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Mrs. Lowell Ness and Mrs. C. C. Ness.

Relief work was estimated at $21 when the Daughters of Union Veterans met Tuesday evening at the armory, with Mrs. Glenn Stevens presiding. The group made plans to attend the district convention in Marion, Oct. 2, and a meeting at Zanesville which will honor the department president, Mrs. Jennie Duffey.

PRICE SPIRAL CALLED DANGER TO ECONOMY

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 19—A continued rise in prices will "explode the American economy," predicts Phil Hannah, secretary of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Addressing the OSFL convention here yesterday, he attributed the increase to "profiteers deliberately stealing from the pay envelopes of wage earners."

Wage increases are not responsible for the price surge, he declared, then quoted government figures to the effect that total wages and salaries had little more than doubled between 1939 and 1946, while farm income was four times greater and corporate profits tripled during the period.

Hannah, who announced his resignation as an assistant secretary of labor last week in protest against the Taft-Hartley law, told convention delegates "we shall obey" the law "but we reserve our right to test its constitutionality."

He urged delegates to set up "political action committees" in their local and central labor unions.

Resolutions adopted yesterday urged repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and Ohio's Ferguson law which applies to strikes of public employes.

Another resolution favored a medical plan "that will cover the medical care of all members of the families, from childhood until death."

Others urged a state bonus for veterans, creation of a state fair employment practices committee, passage of federal anti-lynching legislation, and co-operation with all "bonafide labor organizations."

Brain-weight in proportion to body-weight is about 1/50 in normal, healthy adult men; 1/14,000 for whales.

Carey Legion Aids School Band Fund

CAREY — At a regular meeting of Earl Green Post, American Legion, No. 344, on Tuesday evening a resolution was passed favoring the levy for the Memorial Park and swimming pool.

It was also decided that the post would sponsor a Halloween party on Thursday, Oct. 30. There will be prizes for best costumes and entertainment for all.

During the business session, a contribution of $100 was made to the Carey Band Mothers to be used toward new uniforms for the Carey School Band.

Fear Rides Darkened Train As Storm Howls

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 19—Fear was an unseen passenger as the streamlined coach train trundled heavily through the darkness toward a hurricane-strained bridge.

For six hours on its path from Jacksonville to Miami yesterday the train had been held up at Fort Pierce—well within the deadly whirlpool of wind and salt spray sweeping across southern Florida.

Hal Boyle

The passengers grew steadily more uneasy as the hours passed and the storm mounted, whining one moment around the parked train and then beating the streaming windows with spikes of torn green palmetto.

"Let's go on," some passengers complained. But others looked out at the wind-tortured pine and palm trees and were silent.

A trainman passed through, dripping wet.

"What's holding us up?" someone asked.

"Testing Bridge"

"Checking a bridge up ahead," he said briefly. "Have to wait until we can get a wrecker up to test it."

Rumor spread through the cars that the hurricane had loosened supports of the span across the St. Lucie canal north of West Palm Beach.

The gale rocked the train sideways like a ship weltering in heavy waves. Some passengers became seasick. A woman diabetic sufferer fell ill and was carried out through the rain squalls to a hearse-ambulance.

After night fell the weakened train batteries wore down and the lights fluttered out spasmodically until the train was in darkness. It was then that fear, the dubious gift of night, came aboard.

About 8 p. m. the train began moving almost imperceptivly, and by then every passenger aboard knew about the bridge waiting ahead.

Air Grows Hot, Heavy

"I think we should stay here until morning," said a timorous woman. Other people felt the same way. The air in the slowly moving train grew hot and heavy. The tenseness mounted, and panic became a possibility.

In one car a 73-year-old retired Manhattan postal official and an eight-year-old Florida schoolgirl calmed the rising fear.

Moving quietly down the aisle Frank Gruner, who retired from the postal service in 1945 after 42 years, told excited women:

"Think right—and everything will be all right. You have nothing to worry about."

Other passengers became less fearful as they watched the eagerness with which small Myra Arlene Villardi, looking like a peppermint stick in her red and white striped frock, held up her doll to the window to watch the bridge crossing.

First Hurricane

It was the first hurricane for both girl and doll. Asked what she thought of the storm Myra thought gravely for a moment then replied frankly:

"Nothing."

Before the passengers realized it the train had edged out on the bridge and moved across it steadily. Whitecaps gleamed on the surging canal waters outside and flung pale froth against the churning iron wheels.

In a few moments the bridge had been crossed and the peril—largely imaginary — was passed. The passengers relaxed.

"Weren't you really worried?" a passenger asked Gruner.

"Well," he laughed, "I was a gunner's mute on the flagship Olympia at Manila in 1898 when Dewey told Gridley he could fire when he was ready. I don't think this hurricane quite comes up to that."

Little Myra frowned up at Miss Ruby Wilson of Miami, a friend of her mother who was her train escort on the way to a Fort Lauderdale school.

"Do you think," she asked, "I should carry my doll piggy back when I get off the train? Or would she get too wet?"

Galion Host to Annual W.C.T.U. County Parley

GALION, Sept. 19—The Galion union was host, Wednesday, to the annual Crawford county Women's Christian Temperance Union convention. The morning session was opened at 10 o'clock in the First Methodist church, with Mrs. W. E. Taylor presiding and giving the address of welcome. The response was made by Miss Marlan Fauser of Bucyrus, and devotions were led by Rev. Norman R. Somerville, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Following a potluck luncheon at the noon hour, Mrs. Walter Schiefer of Holmes-Liberty, presided. Special music was provided by Miss Joanne Spaid and Mrs. Ralph Kleinknecht, soprano soloists, with Mrs. Somerville at the piano for hymn singing. An informative report of the Triennial convention of the World's W.C.T.U. which she attended this summer in Asbury Park, N. J., was given by Mrs. Schiefer. The afternoon speaker was Miss Grace Richmond of Columbus, corresponding secretary of the Ohio association.

Unions represented at the convention, here, were Bucyrus, Holmes-Liberty, Leesville and Galion. Corsages were presented to the officers by Mrs. Taylor, president of the Galion union.

Registered Holstein Cow Completes Test

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Sept. 18—A registered Holstein-Friesian cow in the dairy herd owned by Max Conklin of near Marion has recently completed a 365-day production record of 447 pounds of butterfat and 12,345 pounds of milk in herd improvement registry test, the Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces.

Her official name is Spruceleigh Pansy. She was milked two times daily and was five years nine months when she began her test period.

BUCYRUS TAXPAYERS ASK FOR ACTION ON SEWERS

Flood of Complaints Brings Special Session Monday.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Sept. 19—Pressed by a petition bearing signatures of 45 citizens and property owners, Bucyrus City council voted to meet in a special session Monday night to consider the inadequate sewer problem which has brought a flood of complaints at every heavy rain of water and back water flooding basements. The petition was presented by property owners in the Warren and Iron street area.

The petition was received at the regular meeting of council Tuesday night when consideration was also given to traffic problems, resulting in authorization of new traffic lights at Southern avenue intersections with South Sandusky and Marion roads. In addition to the two traffic lights, a caution light was also ordered at East Mansfield and Wayne avenue.

Council was also advised by City Auditor E. C. Oppenlander that effective Sept. 25, the auditor's office will be prepared to issue admission tax licenses as authorized at a recent meeting of council. Under the new legislation all organizations charging an admission must collect the three per cent municipal tax, which was voted to replace the state tax removed by the last legislature.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

Estate of Elza Walter, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that Irene M. Walter has been appointed and qualified as Administratrix of the estate of Elza Walter, late of Marion County, deceased. Dated at Marion, Ohio, this 4th day of August, A. D. 1947.

EDWARD J. RUZZO, Probate Judge, Marion County, Ohio
Case No. 17077.
Sept.5,12,19,1947.

LEGAL NOTICE

Margaret Curran Locht, 1204 North Jefferson Street, Huntington, Indiana, will take notice that on the 2nd day of April, 1947, the plaintiff, Dorothy I. Wexler as administratrix of the estate of Anna T. Curran, deceased, filed her petition against her, among others, in the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, the same being Cause No. 16566 in said Court for the sale of real property owned by the decedent, Anna T. Curran, which real property is bounded and described as follows: Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion, to-wit: Known as being part of lot number eight (8), (now number theretofore being three hundred and thirty-five (335)) in Sloan's Second Addition to the Village, now City of Marion, Ohio and bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at a point in the west line of Windsor Street, in said City, eighty (80) feet south of the southeast corner of lot heretofore sold and conveyed to George R. Curran, by deed dated July 2nd, 1905, recorded in Vol. 168, page 542, Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio; thence west on a line parallel with the south line of said George R. Curran's lot, to the west line of said lot number three hundred thirty-five (335); thence south along the west line of said lot number three hundred and thirty-five (335) one hundred and eighteen (118) feet, more or less, to the north line of land formerly owned by Sarah D. Wyatt; thence east along the north line of said Wyatt land to the West line of Windsor Street, thence North along the west line of Windsor Street one hundred and eighteen (118) feet, more or less, to the place of beginning.

The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said real property to pay the debts of said decedent and as part of the relief prayed for is the barring of the defendant herein among others, from all right, title and interest in and to the aforementioned property, and for other relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 25th day of October, 1947, or judgment will be rendered against her.

Dorothy I. Wexler, Administratrix of the Estate of Anna T. Curran, Deceased.
By: Moloney and Kelly, her attorneys.

Superman — By Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster

SURE WE DRANK IT UP WITH HIM, MR. BAZELON. WHY NOT? OTHERWISE, HE'D'VE DROPPED THE YOUTH-SERUM IN THE WATER ANYWAY.
FUNNY—IT SEEMS TO'VE HAD NO EFFECT ON ANY OF YOU.
HM...
IS THIS MILK BOTTLE THE CONTAINER INTO WHICH YOU TRANSFERRED THE SERUM AFTER YOU STOLE IT?
YES—THAT'S IT. BUT WHY DOESN'T THE STUFF WORK?
YOU POOR FOOL! THE SERUM SHOULD HAVE BEEN KEPT IN A SPECIALLY COATED BOTTLE. I THOUGHT YOU KNEW THAT ONCE EXPOSED TO LIGHT, IT BECOMES USELESS—NO BETTER THAN PLAIN WATER!

Gasoline Alley — By Frank King

IT'S SORT OF LONESOME AROUND HERE WITHOUT CORKY, HACK.
LONESOME, SUGAR? WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH ME?
NONE OF THAT! THINK OF YOUR WIFE AND CHILDREN!
NO CHILDREN, NO WIFE SHE RAN AWAY WITH AN UNDERTAKER AND DIVORCED ME FOR CRUELTY
YOU BRUTE! WHAT DID YOU DO?
I STEPPED ON HER CORN ONCE, ACCIDENTALLY, AND SHE NEVER FORGAVE ME

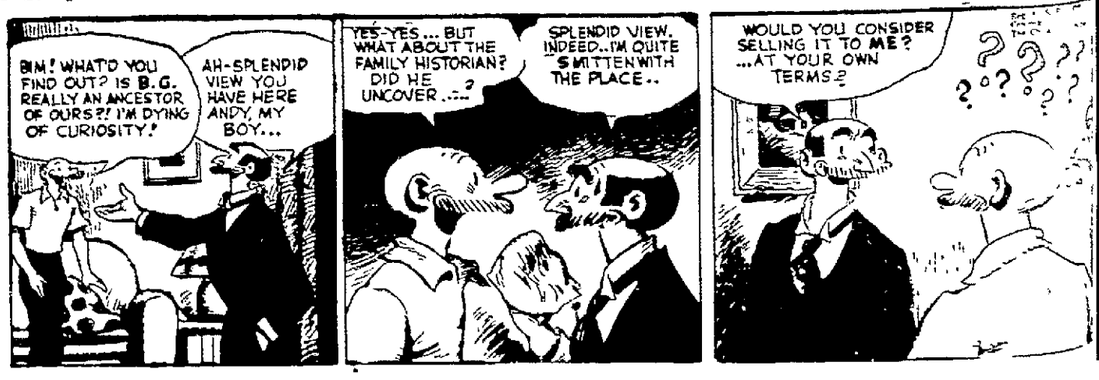
WHAT GOES TERRY? DON'T TELL ME THE TOWER PEOPLE WANT TO DOUBLE CHECK OUR PARKING BILL.
NO... THEY'RE WARNING US THAT THERE'S A BIG SAND-STORM BUILDING UP TO THE SOUTH, RIGHT ON OUR COURSE
WELL, WHICH WOULD YOU BRIGHT LADS RATHER FACE— THE POSSIBILITY OF RUMORS REACHING THE LOCAL BIG SHOTS THAT WE AIDED A KNOWN CRIMINAL TO ESCAPE, OR BEING BOUNCED AROUND BY SOME BAD-TEMPERED ELEMENTS?
OBSERVE, THE AIR CATHAY PLANE IGNORES O.C. WARNING, EVEN NOW THEY TAKE OFF.

The Gumps



BIM! WHAT'D YOU FIND OUT? IS B.G. REALLY AN ANCESTOR OF OURS?! I'M DYING OF CURIOSITY!
AH-SPLENDID VIEW YOU HAVE HERE ANDY, MY BOY...
YES-YES ... BUT WHAT ABOUT THE FAMILY HISTORIAN? DID HE UNCOVER ...?
SPLENDID VIEW, INDEED...I'M QUITE SMITTEN WITH THE PLACE..
WOULD YOU CONSIDER SELLING IT TO ME? ...AT YOUR OWN TERMS?

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"MORE power to you!" my husband said, and there was something heady in his voice which nerved me for my coming interview with Noel Vernizen an interview which I dreaded more than anything I had faced for a long time

There is nothing more difficult to face than a temperamental idealist who has worked himself up to a point where he believes he is the sole custodian of a wonderful scheme of life But I knew that if the marriage of Mary and Noel were not to suffer shipwreck, something would have to be done about this preposterous idea of his that if Mary should have a child, she never must act again Mary who has gone to the top of the dramatic tree so spectacularly'

A Protesting Hand

"I suppose I had better leave you to think things out, plan your line of attack as it were," Dicky said, but I put up a protesting hand

I can't plant anything," I said "I'll have to wait and see how Noel takes my first words on the subject and then plan my campaign accordingly Besides, I'll have to get back to Mary fairly soon Katharine isn't going to make her rest too long"

'For fear the cure will be worse than the disease' Dicky asked, and I nodded

'Exactly," I said "So I must be getting back Katharine especially wants Mary to be absorbed in her work at four-fifteen, because she has arranged for Dr Twitchell to telephone her at that time Then she is going to arrange a meeting with Dr. Twitchell, preceding the interview Mary is going to have with him"

'Aha!" Dicky cried "I smell a leetle mouse! Let me see if I have the picture right"

He put his finger tips together, leaned forward and held my eyes with his bright, slightly mocking ones

Mary and Noel would like to have a child as soon as possible At least Noel would, and Mary was all for it, too, until Noel conceived this super-foolish notion of his And Mary asked you and Katharine about it, and you both very properly refused to advise her and told her to ask Dr Twitchell And now Katharine is going to give the old boy a be-it-to-heart talk to make sure that Mary isn't going to be given permission to have a child for some to come"

'You may go to the head of the class I told him smiling 'That's exactly what's planned But Mary must suspect that the old doctor has been primed for the interview with her'

Highly Commendable

"A highly commendable and most Machiavellian plan' my husband commented "and reflecting credit upon the massive brain which I am sure gave birth to it'

He leaned forward and tapped my head commendingly with his forefinger

"Dicky'" I protested "I didn't—Katharine—"

"Oh, she was in on it, no doubt" he said "You always work together you Siamese twinlets But that isn't the main question in my mind Why if the good doctor is going to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery, don't you let Noel go on dreaming his rosy dreams until the time comes to wake him up' When that time comes, just turn him over to me He'll wake up so quickly he'll stay awake until Gabriel blows his little horn!"

'Because' I said when I stopped laughing Mary would never be free of the idea that Noel eventually would want her to give up the theater as soon as she had a child She couldn't do her best work or be happy with that hanging over her head

Must Sit As Judge

"No, you're right there she couldn't," my husband agreed So I guess you're doomed to sit as judge, and also act as prosecuting attorney tonight Now, I know you don't need any help, but I'll hide here in the bathroom if you say so, while the interview is going on Then if you need anybody to heat the pruning irons I'll be right at hand

'I may be very glad to call on you I told him evasively and he lowered his right eyelid at me

'I should have known better" he said "you can't do your best work with any I once around Suppose I propose this? I'll be in my studio and if you need any strong arm work, I'll be ready to help right down in that better?"

'Infinitely I told him laughing and then I went back to our apartment where I had left Mary

'She's all rested and ready for the fray again" Katharine said and we worked steadily until it the Sunday morning worship Katharine came back gave me a hour at 10 45, Rev Harman knowing satisfied look behind announced Mary's back and then finished the lesson with an announcement

'Dr Twitchell will be here at five o'clock' she said "I want you to rest a few minutes Mary before you see him You want to talk to him alone, I believe"
